Mao Seen Winning Struggle in China

TOKYO (AP) — Mao Tse-tung and his faction appear to have gained the upper hand in Communist China's power struggle and there are signs the threat of violence in Peking and other major cities is dissipating, the Peking correspondent of the Tokyo newspaper Yomiuri reported today.
The Japanese correspondent said the chaotic situation on the mainland appears to have "passed its peak and the tense situation prevailing over Peking, Shanghai, Nanking and other major cities appears to be subsiding following Mao's personal leadership of the purge."
Returned to Capital
Wall newspapers in Peking last week reported Mao had returned to the capital, quoting Premier Chou En-lai and other high Communist party officials.
"There is no doubt Mao's appearance played a decisive role to turn the tide of the crisis," the Yomiuri report said but added that the 73-year-old party chairman has not made any public appearances.
He reported that 30,000 anti-Mao workers left their jobs in Shanghai and set out for Peking but were intercepted and persuaded to return.
"Hundreds of thousands of workers had poured into Peking, creating tension last week," the dispatch continued, "but disappeared from the streets after Mao's support to an urgent appeal from Shanghai revolutionary pro-Mao rebels was reported in the People's Daily Thursday."
Hint at Division
Earlier Mao's faction had hinted at divisions in its ranks with a call on all pro-Mao organizations to rally around the Red Chinese army.
The call for unity—with its implication that Mao's offensive against President Liu Shao-chi and his followers has split—appeared in the Kwang Ming Daily, the organ of the Maoist intellectuals, and was broadcast by the official New China News Agency.
Quoting Mao as saying "the Chinese Red army is an armed body for carrying out the political tasks of the revolution," the paper asserted: "This is the fundamental principle of the great alliance of proletarian revolutionary groups."
Other Developments
There were other developments in the continuing struggle on the mainland:
The Albanian Communist party organ Zeri i Popullit said Mao's "revolutionary line has crushed the reactionary maneuvers of a handful of revisionists and plotters." It was the first time the Albanian party, the Chinese Communist party's chief European ally, had taken a clear-cut stand against Liu's faction and was considered an indication that the Albanians, whose defense minister is now in Peking, believe Mao has won or is winning.
NCNA reported Red Guard students had taken over many of the jobs of striking pro-Liu workers in Shanghai and Peking and that "serious losses to the state economy" had resulted from paralysis of rail and passenger traffic 10 days ago between Shanghai and Hangchow and Shanghai and Nanking.
The agency also said pro-Liu "borders had interrupted harbor operations in Shanghai, China's

Perrine Group May Hear State Historic Official Wednesday

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, (R-Woodstock) in his efforts to save Perrine's Bridge in Rifton, told The Freeman today that he's invited the executive secretary of the State Historic Trust, Wilbur E. Wright, to a meeting of the Perrine's Bridge Committee Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the Esopus Town Hall.
Wilson said that if Wright could not attend he would appeal to some other member of the State Historic Trust to be at the meeting.
The Perrine's Bridge Committee has been active for several months in its efforts to save the bridge. Listed on the Committee are many prominent local persons and legislators including Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick. Resnick has assured the committee of his support on the Federal level but it is basically a state problem.
The State Historic Trust was petitioned last October at which time Assemblyman Wilson urged that Perrine's Bridge be put on the list of those historic structures to be saved.
The bridge at Rifton, now in a sad state of disrepair, is believed to be the oldest existing covered bridge in New York State.
If the bridge is accepted as a State historical site Wilson said he will then press for funds to have it repaired.
The trust is now holding a series of conferences in Albany and New York City, seeking a list of sites that will be inspected and hopefully saved. Wilson has assured the Perrine's Bridge Committee that the bridge is one of those structures under consideration.
Plans to save the bridge are not without opponents. Residents of the Wallkill River Valley claim that the bridge's abut-

Opposite Views Becloud Hopes for 1967 Lottery

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Prospects for putting a state lottery into effect this year were jeopardized today by a developing dispute between Gov. Rockefeller and Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia.
Sources close to the Legislature's top-ranking Democrat reported Travia had told the Republican governor he would rather have no lottery in 1967 than accept a tentative format devised by the Rockefeller administration.
Against Low Price Scale
Among other things, Travia has objected to scaling the price of lottery tickets as low as 25 cents and to using vending machines as the principal method of dispensing tickets.
"I can see a fight there," Travia told newsmen. "I'm not for

Kingston Family Hit 2nd Time by Tragedy

A nine-year-old Kingston boy on Monday afternoon became Ulster County's second victim, to date this year, of a fatal traffic mishap.
Dad Killed Last Summer
Kenneth Doyle, of 222 Greenkill Avenue, whose father, Robert A. Doyle, was fatally injured in a collision last June, was pronounced dead on arrival at the Benedictine Hospital from injuries suffered in a car-bicycle mishap on Pine Street near Greenkill Avenue shortly after 4 p. m. Monday.
Coroner William S. Keyser said death was due to a fractured skull and a brain laceration.
Among those at the scene besides the coroner were Detective Lemuel F. Howard, detectives William Slover and Gurnsey Burger, who took photographs, and Officer Jerry Vitke.
The county's first 1967 victim of a fatal road mishap was Harry E. Paradise Jr., 52, of Blue Mountain, former operator of the Paramount Pharmacy at Saugerties, who died of injuries suffered in a two-car collision on Route 32 near Quarryville last Saturday night.

For Heroism Ulster Hose Will Honor Jersey Man At Feb. 4 Banquet

Because of his heroism, which Ulster Hose Co. 5 fire-fighters credit with averting what might have been a major catastrophe last Nov. 4 at an area propane gas plant, Angelo LaBracio, 27, of Cliffwood, N. J., will be honored at a banquet sponsored by the fire unit.
The event is scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 4 at The Alpine Restaurant, when LaBracio will be presented with a plaque and citations in recognition of his daring and alertness.
Invitation Accepted
Edward Engelhardt, chairman of the banquet committee and coordinator of the event, said today that LaBracio has accepted an invitation to be the fire company's guest of honor at the dinner.
Citations and the plaque will be presented by Fire Chief William Fischang and former Chief Hilary Schultz. The latter was chief of the fire company at the time of the gas fire at an Albany Avenue plant.
LaBracio was unloading a trac-

70 Will Exhibit At Fruit Growers' Session in City

Getting harvest labor will be the topic of the Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 25, session of the fruit growers at the New York State Armory, Manor Avenue.
This is part of the three-day meeting and Trade Show of the New York State Horticultural Society to be held in Kingston Jan. 24, 25 and 26.
Catherwood, Resnick, Hart
At the Wednesday afternoon session Dr. Martin P. Catherwood, head of the New York State Department of Labor, will speak on "Farmers Can Have An Attractive Labor Policy", and Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick will discuss, "Problems and Solutions to Getting Off-shore Labor". Ashton Hart, manager of the Mid-Hudson Growers Cooperative, will tell how to get labor through labor cooperatives.
Mechanical harvesting and mechanical aids in harvesting McIntosh will be discussed by Professors Everett Marquet and William Miller of Cornell, Lester Whitney of the University of Massachusetts, and Mark Shaw of Penn State. This will be followed by presentations on mechanical pruning and the mold and hold pruning method.
Other Subjects
The program will start on Tuesday, the opening day, with a morning discussion of the pear situation and outlook, and growing and handling of pears in the Northwest. This will be followed by a presentation on the possibilities of using sex attractants in controlling fruit insects, and talks on the newer apple varieties by Leonard Clarke, Milton Roscoe Crist, Walden, and Albert Cole of Red Hook.

BERNARD K. ALLANSON

Stated Wednesday Invite Chamber Members to Meet Legislators Here

Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce President George Svirsky today issued a last minute reminder that Chamber members and the public alike are invited to attend a breakfast meeting Wednesday morning at 7:45 a. m. in Governor Clinton Hotel to meet with State Legislative representatives and gain an insight into the 1967 Albany session.
Svirsky joined with Chamber State Affairs Committee Chairman, William E. Belser, in urging local citizens to take greater interest in their government affairs by attending this breakfast.
Anyone wishing to attend is welcome at the meeting. Questions from the floor will be invited following brief presentations by each of the three featured speakers. Committee Chairman Belser will act as the meeting's moderator.
In addition to Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson and State Senator Jay P. Rollison, Bernard K. Allanson, legislative assistant to the New York State Council of Retail Merchants, will be on hand to give the businessman's view of the issues of this session.
Allanson is a graduate of the New York State School of Industrial and Labor Relations at Cornell University and of Albany Law School. Prior to joining the Council's staff in 1962, he was a research investigator for the Department of Labor. He also served as a special research assistant to Assemblyman Russell Selkirk.

Named by Governor Allanson's work with the Council is primarily concerned with legislation and with government affairs generally. He is widely known in the state as a speaker on government and the sales tax. Governor Rockefeller has appointed Allanson to the Business Advisory Committee on Management Improvement. He represents the Council on the New York Employer's Conference on Unemployment Insurance and as a member of the Employee Relations Committee of the Amer-

10,000 More GIs Going To Viet During Month

SAIGON, South Vietnam AP—American jet bombers returned to the heavily defended Hanoi area today for two raids on a sprawling railroad yard 40 miles north of the Communist capital.
A U.S. military spokesman, reporting on strikes in the Red River delta for a third straight day of clear weather, said Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs pounded the Thai Nguyen rail yard in the morning and again this afternoon.

Four Fliers Missing

As the pace of the air war over the north quickened, U. S. headquarters reported two Air Force photo reconnaissance Phantom jets went down over North Vietnam Monday and said the four fliers are missing.
A spokesman said one plane was downed by Communist groundfire and the other is missing from unknown causes and presumed down.
This brought the number of U.S. planes reported lost over the Communist north to 459.
In the ground war, U.S. headquarters reported the Communists used "what appeared to be riot-control gas" against U.S. troops for the second time in less than three months, but the Americans didn't even have to put on their masks.
A spokesman said the Viet Cong tossed gas grenades at pursuing infantrymen of the 4th Division in a small action 27 miles north-northwest of Saigon Monday.
Masks Not Required
"The gas had no serious effect and protective masks were not required," the spokesman said. "There were no U.S. casualties. Two of the enemy were killed."
In other developments:
—U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge returned from five weeks in the United States and said the American people "want to do everything possible to support the young Americans who are here."
—Pentagon officials in Washington disclosed that 10,000 more U.S. troops will be sent to South Vietnam this month to boost American troop strength to 405,000. By the end of 1967, the officials predicted, there will be 475,000 American troops in Vietnam, in addition to between 50,000 and 60,000 offshore with the 7th Fleet and about 30,000 in Thailand, mostly airmen.
Ky on Way to Aussies
—Premier Nguyen Cao Ky left for a 10-day trip to Australia and New Zealand during which he is expected to encounter hostile demonstrations from Laborite opponents of the war. Ky is going to express appreciation for the support in troops and material the two countries have given his government.
South Vietnamese military headquarters reported 10 mortar and small-arms attacks against outposts, camps and one airfield in widely scattered sectors. In three of these actions, a Vietnamese spokesman said, government troops killed 82 of the enemy.
Cong Toll Hits 466
The largest of these engagements took place about 30 miles southwest of Saigon. There a Vietnamese ranger unit claimed killing 57 Viet Cong while sustaining light casualties.
Just north of Saigon, the 10-day-old American-Vietnamese sweep through the "Iron Triangle" continued with U.S. units reporting 76 more Communists killed and four more captured.
This raised to 466 the Viet Cong reported killed by U.S. forces and to 73 the number captured. In addition, 199 have surrendered voluntarily and 415 suspects have been held for questioning.

To Announce Rites For C. W. Johnson

A former Kingston High School football star and 11-year army veteran became Kingston's first Vietnam casualty. Sergeant First Class Charles William Johnson, 31, was killed by a mine fragment Thursday Jan. 12, while on night patrol.
Sgt. Johnson had served in Vietnam since August, 1966, with the 25th Cavalry Division. A brother, Lawrence, a Marine Corps sergeant, was wounded by a grenade last year in Vietnam fighting and was later presented with the Bronze Star Medal with Combat Distinguished Device. Charles, spurred by his brother's heroism volunteered for Vietnam duty. He recently received promotion to his present rank.
The son of Mrs. Myrtle Johnson of 40 Murray Street, Sgt. Johnson was a 1956 graduate of Kingston High School where he received acclaim on the football field.
Surviving in addition to his mother are his wife, Mrs. Francina Johnson of Augusta, Ga.; two sons, Charles William Jr. and Carl Leonard; six brothers, Lawrence D. who is now serving in the Mediterranean area; Egbert, Andrew, Ronald, Leonard and Romon Johnson, all of Kingston; five sisters, Charlotte, Margaret, Hilda and Barbara Johnson and Mrs. Lorraine Mc-

Today in History

Today is Tuesday, Jan. 17, the 17th day of 1967. There are 348 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1899, Cmdr. "Bennington" raised the American flag over Wake Island and claimed it as a possession of the United States.

On this date: In 1706, American statesman and philosopher Benjamin Franklin was born.

1898, former President Ruth-erford B. Hayes died.

1917, the United States purchased the Virgin Islands from Denmark.

1929, President Calvin Coolidge signed the Kellogg-Briand anti-war pact.

1945, Russian and Polish patriot forces liberated the city of Warsaw which had been in Nazi hands for more than five years.

Ten years ago — Soviet Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev renewed a defense of former Soviet dictator Josef Stalin at a Moscow reception for Premier Chou En-lai.

Five years ago — Ten money winners on rigged television quiz shows received suspended sentences in special sessions in New York City after they pleaded guilty to perjury charges.

One year ago — South Carolina led a group of states in an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court to overturn the 1965 Voting Rights Act. The challengers claimed it was an invasion of state's rights.

Negro Officials To Take Control Of Bahamas Now

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — These sunny islands get their first Negro government today. But despite the political questions, life proceeded as before.

Tourists who jammed Nassau rode down Bay Street apparently as oblivious to the political turnover as were the horses wearing straw hats and pulling pink surreys.

But among residents in the 700-island chain stretching from near Florida to near Cuba, the talk was about Premier-designate Lynden O. Pindling, who pulled the election upset of Bahamas' history.

Will his party embark on radical policies that could rock a tourist-laden prosperity boat or will it tread cautiously?

In the native straw market, one of the women who make hats to sell to tourists, remarked: "We have a government now that is for the people and not for themselves. Now we are going to have price controls and low-cost houses and better schools and hospital facilities."

In bigger business circles, there was some apprehension.

Pindling, 36, London-trained barrister whose Progressive Liberal party won a resounding election victory over the white-dominated United Bahamian party said: "We are not going to cut our throat. Business interests, tourists and investors have nothing to fear."

"We will open our doors to legitimate English and American industry and thus take the present stranglehold away from the minority that controls the economic welfare of the country."

The premier-designate said tourism, the principal Bahamas industry, should be increased by extending airline, cruise ship and harbor facilities and providing convention quarters.

Last year, 850,000 tourists visited this sub-tropical haven only minutes by plane from the United States.

Pindling becomes the first Negro chief executive of this British colony of 115,000 Negroes and 30,000 whites. Yet, the race issue rarely reached the surface in the election campaign.

New Operation Gives Wounded Marine a Voice

BOSTON (AP) — A Marine wounded in a Viet Cong ambush last fall said "Hello, how are you?" And became, doctors believe, the first person to speak normally without a voice box.

Doctors at Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary fashioned a tube and valve from the skin of Lance Cpl. Walter Lonata to replace a shattered larynx and restore his voice.

The second of two operations was performed Friday and Lonata, 25, greeted reporters Saturday with "Hello, how are you?" They were his first spoken words since he was wounded by Viet Cong shrapnel Oct. 11.

The two-stage operation was developed by Dr. William W. Montgomery of the infirmary who termed results of what he said was the first such attempt "a complete success."

Dr. Montgomery said general use of the procedure is "still in the future."

He said an estimated 6,000 Americans have their voice box removed each year because of cancer. He said perhaps 70 per cent of these eventually might be candidates for the new surgery.

A patient without a voice box must try to learn esophageal speech in which air is swallowed into the stomach and words are formed by "burping" into the throat. Dr. Montgomery explained.

The new surgical procedure allows the patient to breathe into the lungs and back up the throat in the normal way, giving the voice a good volume and pitch control never possible with esophageal speech.

The operation was done in two steps. First an opening was made at the top of the throat and valves formed from the patient's neck tissue.

In the second stage, a tube was made of tissue to connect the opening at the site where the larynx was removed to the top of the throat where the valves were built.

Dr. Montgomery said a critical factor in success is the valves at the top of the throat. He said it is essential that they close perfectly, otherwise fluid and food could run down into the lungs.

Would Condemn Congress Action In Powell Case

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A Negro assemblyman planned to introduce a resolution today that would condemn Congress "for applying double standards of justice" in the case of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell.

Charles B. Rangel, D-Manhattan, suggested Monday that the congressman was "sacrificed and destroyed in a hypocritical attempt to grant immunity and protection to others."

Powell, a Harlem Democrat, recently was stripped of his congressional chairmanship and asked not to take his seat, pending an investigation.

With thinly veiled sarcasm, Rangel said Powell was "wrong" because "he thought he was a member of the 'club' and that the rules, including those of seniority, applied to him."

In his initial speech to the Assembly Rangel asked other assemblymen to join with U.S. Senators Robert F. Kennedy and Jacob K. Javits "in condemning the Congress for applying double standards of justice to one of its members."

Pirnie Named Head Of Conference Union

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Alexander Pirnie, R-N.Y., is the new president of the U.S. group in the Interparliamentary Union, succeeding Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga.

The Utica Republican was chosen Monday to serve during the 90th Congress by a joint conference of House and Senate delegates to the union.

Katharine St. George, a former Republican representative from Tuxedo Park, N.Y., was named executive secretary of the group.

The 56th annual conference of the union, which now has 75 member nations, will be held in Moscow in September.

Pirnie said the union was formed to promote personal contact between members of all national legislatures and "to unite them in common action . . . in the firm establishment and development of democratic institutions and in the advancement of international peace and cooperation."

Eaton-Rockefeller Plan Could Push Huge East-West Trading

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—A huge but very gradual expansion of trade between the East European and American nations seems to be in the making, barring unexpected changes in world politics.

If present tendencies toward lessening of barriers between Communist and capitalist nations continue it would mean some success for President Johnson's desire to build bridges of commerce to insure peace.

Ideological barriers appear to be dropping, battered by political and economic conditions.

The fact that two names long identified with capitalist millions, Eaton and Rockefeller, have been united in a plan to promote trade with the Communist nations symbolizes this.

Trade between the East European Communist nations and the United States is relatively small now. In 1966, the United States probably exported less than $40 million of goods to the Soviet Union and imported only a little more.

But the potential for improvement of this trade is enormous, and seems increasingly to interest both East and West.

During the past year the Communist nations have demonstrated a growing interest in the practicalities of trade and a lessening of rigid, anti-West moods based in Communist ideology. They want Western technology and science.

Political considerations are intermingled. The Soviet Union, for example, might be influenced by trouble on its border with Red China. And it might want more outlets for some of the discontinued trade with China.

The United States, in turn, would rather deal with a peaceful than a warlike Eastern Europe and Soviet Union. It feels trade could neutralize some political differences and keep communications open.

In pursuing closer commercial ties with these nations, President Johnson last October lowered export restrictions on 400 products. Previously these items — chemicals and machine tools among them — required special permits.

The administration also permitted the Export-Import Bank to guarantee credit loans by private American companies to Poland, Hungary, Bulgaria and Czechoslovakia.

Various other moves were announced in October, including a liberalization of travel rules for Americans going to Communist nations. Now it appears Soviet airliners soon will travel to New York and American liners to Moscow.

The response from Soviet and other Communist nations hasn't been entirely positive, but there has been some hint that objections to Johnson's proposals might be lowering.

The President now hopes to lower tariffs on East-West trade, but this could run into political opposition in Congress. Many Americans still object strongly to American corporations aiding Communist nations or earning money through trading with them.

The Eaton-Rockefeller plan would be a cooperative effort to develop more trade between European Communist nations and the United States, Latin America and Canada.

Government Report Aired Regarding Historic Trails

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new government report recommending establishment of a nationwide system of trails was made public Saturday night.

Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall and Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman jointly released the report prepared by the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation.

Basis for Bill

Even before its completion, early last year data being assembled for the report were used as the basis for a Johnson Administration bill submitted to the 89th Congress proposing a nationwide system of trails. No hearings were held on that bill but a new version of the legislation is to be proposed to the Congress shortly.

The report recommends development of three categories of trails: national scenic trails; park and forest trails; and metropolitan area trails.

It proposes immediate national scenic trail status for the Appalachian Trail, which extends from Maine to Georgia.

Three other long trails listed for early national scenic trail status are:

Pacific Crest Trail in Washington, Oregon and California; Potomac Heritage Trail in the Potomac River Basin in Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Pa., and continental divide trail which would extend from the Canadian boundary at a point in Glacier National Park in Montana through Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado and New Mexico.

Prompt study is recommended as potential long trails of the Lewis and Clark, Oregon Santa Fe, North Country and Natchez Trails. These are located in Missouri, Illinois, Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Colorado, New Mexico, Vermont, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee.

Other trails recommended for study include:

- Chisholm, extending from San Antonio, Texas, northerly through Oklahoma to Atilene, Kan.
- Pacific Coast, along the more picturesque sections of the Washington-Oregon-California Coastline.
- Upper Colorado River, extending from the Flaming Gorge recreation area in Utah and Wyoming down the Green and Colorado Rivers to the Glen Canyon recreation area in Utah and Arizona.
- Rio Grande International, extending along the Rio Grande that forms the United States-Mexican boundary.

Great River Road

- Mississippi River, paralleling generally the proposed Great River Road.
- Great Lake International, circling the more scenic portions of the Great Lakes in the United States and Canada.

'49ers Path

- Gold Rush, following one or more of the historic and picturesque routes taken by the early gold seekers in Alaska.
- Mormon, extending from Nauvoo, Ill., to Salt Lake City, through Iowa, Nebraska and Wyoming.
- Trail of Tears, beginning in the Southeast and extending to Oklahoma, following the route taken by the exiled Cherokee Indians.

Police said the nurse, Miss Dianne Josefiak, told them the girl jumped into an automobile driven by Graunke on the hospital grounds, and that when she tried to prevent them from leaving, the youth pointed a revolver at her.

Faces Assault Charge

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—James C. Graunke, 18, was in jail today, awaiting grand jury action on an assault charge filed by a nurse who, police said, was threatened with a revolver when the youth spirited his girlfriend from a hospital Jan. 4.

Graunke, of suburban Kenmore, waived a preliminary hearing Monday in City Court. He then was ordered held by Judge Alois Mazur on the charge of second-degree assault.

The youth and the girl, a 15-year-old mental patient at Meyer Memorial Hospital here, were taken into custody in

NEW STATE INCOME FORMS

New York State Income Tax forms, which have been redesigned to simplify and speed-up processing, have been distributed to taxpayers. We now can see eager benefactors champing at the bit, awaiting their chance to fill out a form and zing off their contribution.

According to the tax commissioner, the returns conform more closely to those of the federal government, simplify the statistical chores that most taxpayers complain about and provide the "ultimate in usefulness" to individual taxpayers.

Along with the statistics, another source of taxpayers' complaint is excessive government spending and consequent increases in taxes.

When government at all levels do something about their runaway budgets, in our opinion that will be the "ultimate in usefulness."

TEACHING A MAN TO FISH . . .

"Give a man a fish," says an old proverb, "and you feed him for a day. Teach a man to fish and you feed him for a lifetime."

The same truth holds for farming. In fact, an updating of the proverb might well read: "Teach a man modern agricultural technology and you feed not only him but many others, and in doing it strengthen the base from which all the other arts of civilization proceed."

It is with this idea in mind that an American company has launched a first-of-its-kind project to improve farming efficiency in retarded areas of the world. Ford Motor Company is experimenting with a four-level aid program to Colombia.

The program includes four fully paid scholarships to Michigan State University, one of the foremost agricultural schools in the world; the loan of tractors and matching equipment to Colombian agricultural training institutions mobile educational vans, which will give mechanized equipment training demonstrations throughout Colombia, and classroom teaching aids — charts, movies, slides and brochures — for use in Colombian schools.

If successful, the program will be extended to other countries in Latin America, a continent with the highest population growth rate in the world and where "teaching a man to fish" may mean the difference between peaceful progress or violent social upheaval in our lifetimes.

CHINA STILL RED

One thing must be kept in mind during the flood of sensational news out of Red China:

The turmoil that is presently wracking that nation's major cities is not a popular revolt against communism.

Though the situation is reported to be approaching civil war and involves increasing multitudes of the common people, the struggle is not a revolution but a bitter contest between two factions of the ruling party hierarchy.

The outcome will decide not whether China remains Communist but which group of Communists will rule her—those supporting Mao Tse-tung and his heir apparent, Defense Minister Lin Biao, or those in the group represented by denounced head of state Liu Shao-chi.

Thus while it may be natural for the free world to hope to gain from China's troubles, cautious realism dictates that when the dust finally settles, nothing fundamental will be seen to have changed. If anything, the result may be a more, not a less, militant Chinese posture toward the rest of the world.

Some observers are convinced civil war is pending in China. Others are convinced there's a lot of wishful thinking among some observers.

THE NEW CONGRESS AND LABOR

If the Big-time Labor leaders couldn't get what they wanted out of the Eighty-ninth Congress, which was the most "liberal" Congress in the Republic's history, what are they likely to receive at the hands of the more conservatively oriented Ninetieth?

It's all a gamble, for now that Labor has failed to get rid of the section of the Taft-Hartley Act which permits individual states to prohibit compulsory unionism, the new Congress may want to leave well enough alone. But the National Right to Work Committee, which has had such a resounding success in its campaign to save the right-to-work provision known as 14(b), thinks the time has come to go over to the offensive. It has four bills ready for introduction in the Ninetieth Congress and these bills will certainly meet with the approval of legislators who owe their recent election to the anti-union-compulsion tide.

One of the bills would take federal income tax exemption away from any labor or agricultural organization that enforces compulsory membership or compulsory payment of dues or fees on any worker. A second bill would turn Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act around, making compulsory unionism illegal everywhere except in states that specifically authorize it by state law. A third bill would amend the Railway Labor Act, restoring the Right to Work provision to the railroad and airline industries. And a fourth bill would stipulate that unions be allowed to bargain collectively only for their own members.

The first bill challenges the Internal Revenue Service's ruling that labor unions are free to engage in political action and still retain their status as tax-exempt organizations. If consistency has any virtue, this bill should commend itself to legislators such as Senator George Murphy of California who was appalled when the Internal Revenue Service took tax exemption away from the Sierra Club because it had lobbied against turning part of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado into a lake. Surely, if it is illegal for an organization of nature-lovers to use money derived from tax-exempt collections to oppose Congressional bills, then it should be illegal for a labor organization to use its funds in a similar way, particularly when the money has been forcibly collected.

"The National Right to Work Committee," says Executive Vice President Reed Larson, "believes that unions should not be in a different category than other classes of exempt organizations . . . such as fraternal clubs, charitable and educational organizations and public welfare groups, all of which are prohibited from engaging in political action and are subject to revocation of their exemption status if they do."

The new Congress will heed Reed Larson's words if it is of a mind to make the Federal Revenue Code logically consistent. But the argument for retaining Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act as a States' Rights argument, and the Ninetieth Congress may prefer to continue with the States' Rights approach of the Eighty-ninth. There is no danger to individual Congressmen in closely contested districts when labor problems are referred back to fifty State capitals. If this should prove to be the line of reasoning in the Ninetieth Congress, the National Right to Work Committee has a second string ready for its bow. Nineteen states already have laws prohibiting compulsory unionism. A campaign to put Right-to-Work to a popular vote is already rolling in Oklahoma. And, in Idaho, the newly elected Governor, Don Samuelson, who favored retention of 14(b) nationally, would surely be favorably disposed to a Right-to-Work law for his own state. New Mexico and Delaware are other states where Right-to-Work laws might receive favorable consideration.

One thing is certain: the Big-time Labor bosses won't get positive legislation out of the Ninetieth Congress. Their best bet is to settle for the status quo, leaving it up to the states to go their own way.

The Doctor's Mailbag

To Gain Weight, Eat More Than Body Uses as Energy

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I am a 15-year-old boy and am underweight. Could rheumatic heart disease which I have had for three years make me thin? How can I gain weight?

A—Rheumatic heart disease would not be a direct cause of loss of weight or of failure to gain. In severe cases it might even cause a gain in weight due to waterlogging.

You should have an examination to rule out any other cause, such as tuberculosis. If you have no debilitating disease, your problem is to take in more calories every day than you spend as energy. Underweight persons often fail to gain weight when they increase the amount of sugar and starch they eat, such as bread and jam, candy and cake. These foods quickly satisfy the appetite of underweight persons.

Try eating three eggs a day, a glass of half milk and half cream three or four times a day. You may have to force yourself to eat this much at first but, if you stay with it, you should gain.

It may help to lie down for 10 or 15 minutes when you think you have eaten all you can because your stomach will empty faster when you are lying down. Then go back to the table for seconds.

Q—I am a 16-year-old girl. How can I gain 15 pounds without eating greasy foods which make my face break out? Is there any hormone that would help me?

A—Although some fats may aggravate acne, they do not cause it. No one should avoid all fats. Margarine and butter are easily digested and taken in moderation, will not make your face break out. Avoid the fat attached to meat and the skin of fish and fowl. In addition to the foods recommended in the preceding answer, eat one cubic inch or more of cheese (American, longhorn or brick) every day. I would not advise any drugs to help you gain.

Q—I am an 88-year-old man. I have lost 25 pounds in the last three years. In the last year I have also lost much of my energy. What do you advise?

A—You must first find out whether your loss of weight is being caused by tuberculosis, cancer, an overactive thyroid, adrenal deficiency, diabetes, anemia, alcoholism or chronic diarrhea. Treatment of the underlying cause must come first. In many elderly persons loss of weight is a direct result of depression, boredom and loneliness. When this is the cause stanozolol (Winstrol), which is available only on a doctor's prescription, should improve both your appetite and your mental outlook.

Please send your question and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

"May We Join the Party?"

Washington News

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — If President Johnson sticks to his preliminary 1968 budget estimate of $135 billion, then federal expenditures will have risen $100 billion in just 20 years.

Harry Truman's fiscal 1948 budget was $33 billion. Since then there has been upward by small and large leaps, in all but four of the intervening years.

The first Korean war budget sent federal outlays soaring $21.3 billion. That was the highest single post-World War II boost until we got into the thick of the Vietnam struggle.

Johnson now says he may just shave that figure in the current fiscal year, with a projected increase of $20.3 billion.

Against the uncertain backdrop that this estimated increase may prove conservative. A rise of $25 billion in fiscal 1968 is within the probabilities.

Congress may be cool to the President's tax increase proposals, but it may be working against increasingly harsh realities.

Deficits have been running higher through most of the 1960s. In five of the last six years, the red ink has annually added up to $6 billion more. This current year the deficit likely will exceed $10 billion, despite Johnson's marked-down estimate of $9.7 billion. In any event, the total will be the greatest since the Eisenhower recession figure of $12.4 billion in fiscal 1959.

The lawmakers may not be able to duck out on this problem, no matter what smokecreens they throw up about the "damaging effects on the economy" of an across-the-board tax boost. Favorable business reaction to the President's proposals suggest, furthermore, that Congress may be misjudging the responses.

In the light of recent events, Johnson's little charade of two and three years ago, keeping the budget under the magic $100 billion mark, now looks ludicrous. Totals a third again as high are talked of almost routinely.

Yet the task of getting up the money gets harder all the time. Johnson feels safe, obviously, in asking for a tax hike which would wipe out only part of the tax cut granted the nation by Congress in 1964. Like Truman in 1950-51, he might even come back next year and ask for more — on the ground he is just balancing things out.

A Congress that resists such increases will have to live uncomfortably in the next two years, starting at a mountain of unpaid federal bills.

But if the lawmakers seem on the one hand to be shunning reality, they may on the other be sensing the approach of a crucial turn in U. S. fiscal history.

The nation's tax load, overall, is nearing the unbearable level

Lawmakers and governing executives are compelled in the end to be realistic about the need for money. They are growing impatient, however, with educators, social specialists and others (protected in every case from the voters' wrath) who will tell them they must get up more and more and more.

Johnson's State of the Union message spoke, as politicians often do these days, of improving the "quality of life" in America. But running through it was an unmistakable theme — that war or no war, money alone will not do the job ahead; that new devices of administration, of governmental partnership, of extracting value from the dollar are required.

In his frank discussion of these necessities, the President seemed to be saying that the day may soon be gone when betterment is equated largely with the spending of money.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Sam Mann of Washington Avenue dropped off some local newspapers of the World War II years. I see Bernard Baruch, the elderly statesman, in this Kingston Daily Leader of Saturday, Sept. 2, 1944, wanted the returned veteran to receive adequate weekly compensation.

They were thinking of giving only $14 per week in cash. War Mobilizer James Byrnes urged a federal maximum payment of $20 a week for 26 weeks. This particular Sept. 2, 1944 issue, no doubt was saved because it contained the honor roll of all the men in the service from Kingston. The names were taken from the list on the tablets in the city hall and the newspaper said they made every effort to see that the list is complete. No doubt, each local group such as the Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars have this copy. The paper mentions that the World's Fair in New York in 1940 had as its slogan For Peace and Freedom.

Kingston names took nearly three full pages of eight columns each. The first page is illustrated so that perhaps some have framed these pages. Every one in some way was working for the war effort and many felt the World War II would end all wars, and arguments between nations would be settled around a peace table if this war could be won by our side, but history has other ideas.

In this Sept. 2, 1944 Kingston Daily Leader, they described the heavy downpour and floods on many Kingston Streets, with storm sewers flooded. An electric light pole near the sewage disposal plant on East Strand, was struck and service in that area was affected. The heavy flow of water put the pumping station on Clifton Avenue out of order and BPW crews were sent out to make repairs.

Somehow our streets, even in 1960 do not seem to be able to carry off the water, although we have the Rondout Creek to accept the sewer water. In 1944 they describe the deep water at Washington and Hurley Avenues and also at Foxhall and Albany Avenues. Meadow Street, near the railroad bridge, was also flooded. Some trees were blown down during that storm.

In 1960's, if a heavy storm hits, one wonders if it is wise to go under the modern overpass, or go by one other street which perhaps might be worse and turned into a lake. A quarter of a century has passed and still the battle of the floods and wars goes on, and civilization cannot seem to do a thing about it.

In 1944 Rondout had all its stores, and the holiday season saw gay decorations on lower Broadway, not so in 1966. In 1944 the Orpheum had two features, and the special stage attraction, and an all new show on Sunday. Now the Orpheum will soon be demolished, corner Spring Street and Broadway in Rondout. Reade's Kingston theatre made Wall Street an evening street as well as an afternoon shopping center. Abbott and Costello were playing there. Radio Corporation of America, RCA Victor Division had a "new industry for the Hudson Valley" in Saugerties and were crying for help, and giving girls over 16 (women) a chance to learn to assemble radio tubes "That are vital for Victory" the advertisement explained. They had open house, and Miss Alice M. Scarfield took me out there. I remember seeing all the girls under strong light, bending over and, so it seemed, soldering tiny wires. It is said, women are very good at this type of work. These newspapers are interesting to read and at the same time sad. Will there ever be a safe and tranquil world?

Questions 'Gimmicks' Used To Hide True Figure in Red

WASHINGTON — If the head of a business saw that his financial operations were going into the red and he then included money derived from the sale of assets as a part of profit, the stockholders would call this misrepresentation and the auditors of the securities and exchange commission would throw it out as inaccurate.

But this is what the government itself is doing today in estimating the actual deficit for the fiscal year that ends on June 30. For, instead of the red figure of 9.7 billion dollars which President Johnson used in his "State of the Union" message to Congress last week, the real deficit appears to be at least 18.8 billion. This sum includes some of the items to which Senator John J. Williams of Delaware, Republican — a member of the finance committee — called attention. Here is the list taken from Government sources:

Deficit estimated by President after new taxes . . . 9.7
Accelerated tax payments by corporations . . . 3.2
Speed-up individual withholding tax payments and excise taxes . . . 4
Graduated individual withholding taxes . . . 4
Income from reduced silver content of coins . . . 1.0
Sales of "Participation Certificates" . . . 4.1

Real deficit (Billion) . . . 18.8

What are "participation certificates"? They are, in effect, a form of government security, when sold to the public, the funds can be classified as the same as money received from the sale of savings bonds or any other government securities. These certificates are tied definitely to assets on which originally there were mortgage loans issued by banks or by savings and loan associations.

Also by speeding up tax payments of corporations and individuals, the treasury takes in money this year from sources that will not be available for the same purpose next year. Income taxes used to be paid by individuals on March 15 of the year after the money was earned, and corporations paid in four equal installments. Now the treasury has gradually changed the system so that money is paid currently by the taxpayer. Indeed, at present, estimates of future income in certain kinds of businesses have to be made a year in advance, and the courts have ruled that the treasury has the power to require taxes to be paid on estimates even before all the money is collected from the business transactions.

The Administration must have known three years ago that it would have a hard time balancing the budget, and yet income tax rates and excise taxes were substantially reduced. President Johnson revealed in his message that 20 billion dollars were thereby lifted from the country's tax bill and that the new "surcharge" is relatively small in comparison to what the citizens got in tax relief. The question that will be asked, however, is why the administration cut down the taxes and created a boom while it kept on spending at higher and higher levels, and as a result now finds itself today actually with the biggest red figure in recent years.

What will the situation be, moreover, in the fiscal year 1968 which begins July 1, 1967? How many devices, such as the sale of "participation certificates," will be used again? One of the supposed advantages of borrowing through these federal certificates is that this doesn't have to be shown as a part of the "public debt" and hence Congress doesn't need to raise the existing debt limit just to cover such borrowings.

It's had enough to run deficits of 8 or 9 billion dollars based on acknowledged liabilities and on sums that under proper bookkeeping can be legitimately called "income," but when there are "gimmicks" used that hide the true nature of the red figure, confidence in the dollar is bound to be affected. Maybe that's why the stock market suddenly rose after the President delivered his message. It was probably assumed that high spending by the government and indifference to the wage-and-price spiral would be continued, that the inflationary curve would go still higher, and that the value of the dollar would be further diminished.

Plan National Drive to Reduce Car Theft Rate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is planning a national campaign against car theft and is seeking — through persuasion or legislation — to have automobile manufacturers make their cars harder to steal.

Announcing this today, Asst. Atty. Gen. Fred M. Vinson Jr. said steering wheel, transmission and hood locks and more secure ignition systems are devices which would help reverse the rising trend of automobile thefts.

Vinson said the Justice Department has conferred with industry representatives "with a view to installation of feasible and effective devices at the earliest practicable date."

"We are following with interest the automobile industry's activity in this regard and we are considering legislation, if necessary, to require installation of anti-theft devices at the point of manufacture or assembly," he said in testimony prepared for the Senate subcommittee on Juvenile Delinquency.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., the subcommittee chairman, said his group also is considering legislation which would require anti-theft devices on new cars.

Their talk of possible new laws dealing with automobile equipment came with manufacturers and the government at odds over the number and nature of safety devices to be required on 1968 model cars under a law passed by the 89th Congress.

Vinson said the criminal division of the Justice Department is coordinating a national auto theft prevention campaign, due to begin about March 1. He said 19 organizations of automobile owners, manufacturers, officials and law officers are participating.

Vinson said these are among the programs that will be part of the campaign: A drive for the enactment of local laws which would make it illegal for motorists to leave the ignition key in unattended cars, a public information program to encourage motorists to lock their cars and take out the ignition keys when they park, laws and legislation to regulate the sale of motor vehicle master keys.

Advocates Survey Of Bomb Results

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Vance Hartke, a foe of bombing attacks on North Vietnam, proposed today that President Johnson set up a board to determine if the bombing is serving "our own interest."

As Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, defended the bombing, the Indiana Democrat said the President should have impartial advice on whether the raids are accomplishing goals of boosting South Vietnamese morale, cutting supply lines and prodding Hanoi toward negotiations.

Hartke recalled in an interview a bomb survey after World War II which he said showed that despite heavy bombardment German production and the will to resist increased.

In other developments: — Wheeler, at a Pentagon news conference, defended the "bombing raids as an integral, indispensable part" of American operations.

— Rusk told newsmen following a four-hour closed session with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that bombing would continue while American diplomats "keep trying to find out" whether a halt in the raids would be a move toward peace.

About midnight Sunday Charles A. Council of 280 Broadway, Port Ewen, was driving South on Broadway near West Stout Street, Port Ewen, when his vehicle collided with the parked car owned by John Houghtaling of 244 Broadway, Port Ewen. The accident happened about 8:35 p. m. The Houghtaling car was moved about 60 feet, passed between two trees and a fence and struck a house. There was some damage to the house. A large stone abutment was moved. Deputy Sheriff Ronald Natoli and Harold Dohnken conducted an investigation and lodged a charge of driving while intoxicated against Council.

Fonda's Girl Is Big Now—Bared, Banned, in Court

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "What has happened to Hank Fonda's nice little girl Jan?" asked a Beverly Hills dowager recently. What indeed? First Jane Fonda showed up in Playboy in the characteristic pose for that magazine . . . nude.

Banned in Italy

Now she has been banned in Italy. The film she made with her husband, director Roger Vadim, "The Game is Over,"—Italian title: "The Kill"—was seized on a citizen's complaint that it was obscene—Italian law allows such a practice. A magistrate in Bari, Italy, ruled that it was indeed obscene and ordered trial for the film's distributor and theater managers who showed it.

On the latter matter, Miss Fonda was mystified. Here to finish "Barefoot in the Park," she commented that the Italian censors had already passed the Vadim film and it had enjoyed a good reception in Italy. She denied that it contained anything obscene.

"Vadim would not do anything that was not in good taste," said the actress, who refers to her husband with his last name.

Suit Against Playboy

On the matter of the Playboy spread, she is more voluble. She has sued the magazine for $9.5 million, charging that printing of the seven photos showing her "almost completely nude and with her breasts exposed" was unauthorized. The suit added that "her professional career and aspirations are and will be harmed."

Miss Fonda declared that the photographs were taken by a man who sneaked onto the set when it was supposedly closed to all but a few key personnel.

"Almost every actress nowadays is faced with doing nude scenes at one time or other," she declared. "They are usually difficult to do, because you have to stand behind two bedposts or use some other method for cover."

Trusted Husband

"In this case I decided to trust my husband and play the scene with freedom, being assured that he would protect me in the cutting room. He did just that; the nude sequence is in good taste."

"There is a world of difference between playing a nude scene in a movie which can be cut for protection and being shot in the nude by an outside photographer, especially when the result ends up in the context of a risqué magazine."

UTICA, N. Y. (AP)—Striking mechanics headed for the ballot boxes today to vote on the latest company proposal for ending a 40-day-old walkout against Mohawk Airlines.

An official of Local Lodge 75, International Association of Machinists and Aero-Space Workers, told The Associated Press Monday that "further talks would not be productive."

Bargaining sessions were recessed until the vote on the latest offer was completed. Details of the proposal were not available.

The current negotiations began here 10 days ago. Earlier talks in Washington, D.C., had led to a tentative agreement on the pension-plan dispute that triggered the strike by 500 mechanics of the nation's largest regional carrier.

A Mohawk spokesman said, however, the accord was conditional on all 500 mechanics returning to their jobs. The company had sold eight piston-engine aircraft and said it would eliminate 125 jobs.

Mohawk, which has continued to operate about 70 per cent of its flights, provides service to 35 cities in the eastern United States and to Toronto, Ont.

Hints from Heloise

by Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise:

My pre-school youngsters are always wanting a drink of fruit juice or some kind of drink between meals, so . . .

Now when I do the breakfast dishes, I wash and scald some baby food jars and fill them with juices for the children to last the rest of the day. I stack these on the bottom shelf in my refrigerator within easy reach of my small ones.

Sure saves, "Mama, where is something to drink," and me having to stop my chores and pour them something.

Mother

And look at the utility bills you will save on refrigeration. I have seen my children open the door and just stand there trying to figure out what they want. Then sometimes spill it on the floor.

Too, those little jars can be set in tomato cartons and make a much neater refrigerator. They slide in and out like a drawer, and don't tip over. Just be sure the lids are on the jars.

Heloise

I found a good use for the empty, plastic detergent bottles. I pour rubbing alcohol in them so it will be easier for my mother to use. The pull up cap is easier for her to handle and it can be pulled up halfway to dispense a small amount.

If the bottle should be dropped, it won't break.

Be sure you put a prominent label on it.

Dottie

Have trouble getting the last bit of the shortening from the can?

When ready to use the last of the shortening, I merely remove the lid and set the can in my heavy cast iron skillet and put it on the fire. All the shortening melts to the bottom of the can.

There is no scorching or fear of catching fire because the can is in the skillet.

I then pour the liquid fat in the skillet and the can is cleaned out completely with no waste at all.

N. Maxey

Help! White sediment forms on my baby bottles.

I know it's sediment and minerals in the water, but how do I get it out of the glass bottles?

If I work my fingernails down, soap-filled pads will do a good job on the outside.

Tut-Tut

Why don't you give this a whirl? It works beautifully.

Put some baby bottles in a big pan. (Color makes no difference.) This depends on how many bottles you are to boil.

Let boil 10 minutes or so. If they have become clear (and this will depend on how much sediment you have on them) use your forceps and remove them just as if you were boiling for your formula.

As soon as they are cool, rinse and wash immediately with some good hot suds.

All that old sediment will be gone.

And next time you kiss that baby, give him a big kiss for us all.

Maps Move To Outlaw Topless Fad

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—"There can be no excuse for the topless waitress other than greed," says a Republican state senator who has mapped a move to outlaw the practice.

Sen. John D. Calandra of the Bronx said Monday he would offer an amendment to the state's penal law to prohibit that nightclub fad.

He observed that three New York City judges had ruled last week that, while the practice was morally objectionable to them, there was nothing in the law to prevent it.

They made this statement in acquitting four women who appeared bare-breasted, except for two small plastic discs called "pasties," while serving patrons in a nightclub last fall. They had been charged with indecent exposure.

Quits Troy Post For State Agency

TROY, N.Y. (AP)—Robert A. Stierer, Troy's first city manager, has resigned to take an administrative post in a state agency.

Stierer, who has served since Jan. 1, 1964, when the present city council-manager system was instituted, resigned Monday describing the job as "exhausting and frustrating at times."

Stierer, 46, told the councilmen he was "not authorized" to disclose the state post to which he would be appointed. The resignation, which had been expected, takes effect March 1.

No successor has been named.

Inspection Order Has Opera House Closer to Razing

NEW YORK (AP) — The city administration was under a court order today to proceed with inspection of the historic old Metropolitan Opera House in preparation for issuance of a demolition permit.

The order Monday came as Gov. Rockefeller made it clear that he would not sign a save-the-met bill, which was moving through the Legislature in Albany.

Declines Stay

In New York City, Supreme Court Justice Arthur Kelin declined to grant a stay of the inspection, which was sought by supporters of the Old Met.

until after the legislative action. "I do not want the inspection unduly delayed," Kelin said, "and I will not hesitate to hold the City of New York in contempt."

Cite Rosendale Driver After Hunter Mishap

A Rosendale man was cited by Leeds State Police early today on a charge of not having his car under control as the result of a collision which occurred at 4 a. m. on Main Street, Hunter.

Sergeant Herbert Newton said Gunther Newman, 41, Rosendale, was summoned by Trooper A. J. Peterson to appear at a later date to face the charge before Justice of the Peace Robert Gooley.

According to Peterson, Newman was driving his 1967 car when it skidded on a patch of ice and collided with a parked 1952 station wagon owned by Michael Kiebus of Hunter. The latter vehicle burst into flames, troopers said.

Cut Your Own Taxes

Don't Forget Taxes, Interest You've Paid

By RAY DE CRANE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Deductible taxes on your income tax return generally include real estate taxes, state and local gasoline taxes, state and local sales taxes, state and local income taxes and personal property taxes.

The instructions mailed with your income tax blanks by Internal Revenue include tables for determining the sales tax and gasoline tax allowances. The sales tax chart allowance is based upon income and the number in your family. If you can prove you paid more sales tax than the chart allowance, claim the higher figure. You may additionally claim any sales tax paid on the purchase of an automobile.

Real estate taxes are deductible in the year paid. This does not necessarily mean the total of real estate taxes collected on your monthly mortgage payment.

Your bank, savings and loan or mortgage firm put such payments into a reserve account to guarantee payment when taxes became due. They should be able to tell you the exact amount of real estate taxes they paid for you in 1966.

You may also deduct interest charges paid on debts for which you were legally responsible. However, if you made a mortgage payment on your daughter's home, you could not deduct the interest portion of the payment.

Deductible interest generally includes interest paid on a home mortgage, home improvement loan, personal loans from banks and credit unions, auto purchase loans and installment purchases. So-called "points" paid on the purchase or sale of property do not constitute deductible interest. The purchaser adds this charge to the cost basis of his home. The seller uses it as a selling-expense item.

To arrive at the hidden interest on installment purchases total the unpaid balance on the first of each month, divide by 12 to get the average unpaid monthly balance and multiply by 6 per cent to get the allowable interest deduction.

(NEXT: The "other deductions.")

Doctors quit smoking

CHICAGO — According to a recent survey, 52% of American doctors do not smoke. Many quit recently due, according to the Anti-Tobacco Center of America, to the conclusive evidence linking cigarettes and lung cancer.

Many doctors gave up smoking without straining their will power thanks to a new tablet which helps to progressively eliminate the need for nicotine and, as a result, the desire to smoke. Less than 2% of the 150,000 people who tried this tablet reported they still smoke!

Smokers interested in receiving information (free) about this new tablet are invited to contact directly the Anti-Tobacco Center of America, Dept. 516 G 366 Fifth Avenue, New York 1, New York.

CLAUDE MONTEUX

Goldberg Appears as Guest Artist Here With Area Philharmonic; Monteux Conducts

By DOROTHY A. NAREL
Freeman Society Editor

At the age of six, Polish born Szymon Goldberg strummed on his brother's mandolin while his mother accompanied him on the piano—the only piano in the entire village of Wloclawec, not far from Warsaw. Last night, Goldberg demonstrated his unique mastery of the violin as he played Mozart's "Concerto No. 5 in A Major," accompanied by the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra, this area's growing and maturing orchestral group which performs under the baton of Claude Monteux.

The pleasant Philharmonic concert took place in the Community Theatre before an audience of more than 1,000 music lovers.

The program opened with Dvorak's "Symphony No. 4 in G Major, Opus 88." The conductor and orchestra were faithful to the simplicity, sincerity and beauty of Dvorak's music. Easy to listen to, the Symphony is full of pleasing and gratifying lyrics portraying Dvorak's romantic spirit to good advantage.

In the Mozart Concerto, the expansive and symbolic breadth revealing Mozart's lyric genius and his inexhaustible supply of beautiful melodies, Mozart, who may well be called the father of the modern concerto, permits emphasis upon the individuality of the virtuoso and Goldberg took full advantage of developing the artistic potentialities of the cadenza. He was articulate, smooth and sensitive.

In the slow movement, Adagio, Goldberg treated his violin as though it was a human voice, making it sing an aria, so to speak, with the orchestra subordinated to the role of accompanist. The final movement, Tempo di Minuetto, was graceful and sprightly.

Of course, Mozart's violin concertos are not of the artistic caliber of those for piano but his "Concerto No. 5 in A Major," which Monteux chose for last night's performance, is considered a masterpiece. Mozart's music can be termed as "classic restraint." There is no tearing of hair or wringing of hands. It is not Beethoven or Wagner. But for all its slightness, the concerto does have a tender fullness of emotion which makes some of the slow movements unforgettable and this particular piece of music closes with beautiful 18th Century grace.

Goldberg returned for several curtain calls. His performance was well worth hearing.

The most interesting selection on last night's program in my opinion, was Copland's "El Salon Mexico." Music like "El Salon Mexico," proves that Copland can appeal to large audiences at first hearing without cheapening his ideas or "talking down" to his public. Early in his career, Copland was strongly attracted to the jazz idiom. He utilized jazz idioms with effectiveness and freshness and then abandoned jazz for a neo-classic style.

Copland is quoted as having once said, "we are getting too far away from the public... we are being isolated. I myself turned to... a simpler approach and more appealing music... I've tried to express what I wanted to say in terms as simple as I could."

The Copland work was well performed by the Philharmonic last night. I left the concert hall knowing that Monteux has pulled this area's philharmonic up to a higher level of performance. Coupled with its own tremendous potentialities and local public support, the Hudson Valley Philharmonic has a very bright and successful future. We should take pride in this group's performance and give special accolades to the orchestral body.

Call Sounded For Reforms in Adoption Laws

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick has called for the speedy reform and unification of New York State laws covering adoption procedures. At a meeting of the Adoptive Parents Committee, Inc. at the Carnegie Endowment Fund Center, the Congressman cited the Liumi adoption case, which has achieved national prominence, as bringing to the public eye the need for such reform, stating that every individual Welfare Commissioner in the State of New York (62 of them) has "the license to exercise authority and discretion which often exceeds their wisdom and ability."

The Congressman criticized the existing conditions pertaining to adoption laws, and called for the establishment of a centralized authority in Albany to act as a check against the autonomy and abuses that can occur when individual county Welfare Commissioners make arbitrary decisions. He also strongly urged the immediate enactment of a law which would give foster parents who have cared for a child for two years, priority when that child's adoptive parents are being selected.

The Congressman indicated a need for improved working conditions and better salaries for social welfare workers, who are the lowest paid professional workers, to enable the assignment of qualified and competent staff to administer programs in the field of child welfare.

Congressman Resnick also promised to investigate the feasibility of introducing legislation to establish a National Adoption Exchange, to be administered by the federal government or by private agencies working with federal assistance. Legal barriers have often kept perspective parents apart from available children from different areas of the country. The National Adoption Exchange would remove the residency requirements and act as a national clearinghouse and coordinator to facilitate adoption procedures in the United States.

By urging the members of the Adoptive Parents Committee and their friends to speak up now and to contact their local and state representatives to bring about the immediate reforms so badly needed in the whole realm of adoption, "For the first time, the entire country is aware of this need as a result of the Liumi case," he said. "Now is the time to strike for action to put an end to the bureaucratic arrogance as exhibited by Ulster County Welfare Commissioner Fitzsimmons, and to enact a comprehensive set of workable laws which are fair and just, and will give to these little children who, through no fault of their own, have been abandoned, the opportunity to grow up as an integral part of a family, loved and cherished," he concluded.

Lauds Role of Press

The Congressman spoke in detail about the Liumi case, and said that the Liumi story had many heroes, but the press especially deserves special mention. He said: "The only weapon the Liumi family had in its fight against the arbitrary and capricious use of power by the Ulster County Welfare Commissioner was public opinion. And public opinion did come to their rescue, marshalled by the outraged voice of newspapers, radio and TV stations, and magazines throughout the country. There is no question that were it not for the pressure generated by the press—pressure which produced countless thousands of letters and telephone calls—the Liumi case might not have had a happy ending. I take my hat off to the responsible people of the press whose warm hearts and social consciences stormed an almost impenetrable fortress of indifference and hostility—and carried the day."

Congressman Resnick concluded.

Suggest Valley University on Vassar Farm Land

Plans for an area university for joint advanced study on the unused 750-acre Vassar College farm property in Poughkeepsie were advanced over the weekend by Dr. Henry M. MacCracken, president emeritus of Vassar College.

Under the plan proposed by Dr. MacCracken, each college would retain its own identity but could participate voluntarily in any of the programs, the association offers. One such program might be faculty exchange.

Dr. Lynn C. Bartlett, secretary at Vassar College, said that Dr. MacCracken's plan would be considered but added that it presents its own problems. "It would cost a great deal of money and involve a great amount of planning," Dr. Bartlett said.

The State Board of Regents has granted a charter to the Associated Colleges of the Mid-Hudson Area in which Vassar and six other colleges are involved. The others include State University at New Paltz, Bennett College, Marist College, Dutchess Community College, Bard College and Briarcliff College.

Ulster Community College President Dr. Dale B. Lake reaffirmed his interest and support in the Hudson Valley association of colleges. He noted that plans have been underway for several years and were started before UCCC came into being. "We are in full support of the idea, Dr. Lake said, and are interested in joining the association."

tor-trailer of propane gas owned by the firm of H. R. Ritter, Rahway, N. J., into a stationary tank at the Terwilliger Bros. plant on Albany Avenue on the night of Nov. 4 when fire erupted in gas that was leaking from a line.

A spectacular fire was in progress when firefighters from Ulster Hose Co. 5 converged on the scene. Deputy sheriffs and Kingston State troopers with Town of Ulster constables were dispatched to the area and business places and homes were temporarily evacuated as authorities took every possible safety precaution in the event storage tanks and the propane gas-filled tank on the trailer became involved.

Risked His Life
Firemen who arrived in the first group, saw LaBracio risk his life as he worked frantically and swiftly to close the valves that cut off the flow of the gas.

Assistant Chief William Williams Jr. and Captain Charles Crespiro directed firemen as they fought to confine the flames to the loading platform, the interior of the truck and pools of loose liquid propane gas.

While LaBracio was turning off the valves to avert a possible catastrophe, he sustained burns of the face and hands. He was rushed to Kingston Hospital by Doctors Ambulance for treatment.

Assistant Fire Chief Williams highly commended firefighters for their good work in quelling the flames. One crew handled the hose line on the tanker to keep the fire area cooled down and a second crew extinguished fire in the cab which destroyed the interior.

Recalling the night of the fire, Engelhardt said, "LaBracio risked his life to shut off the valves as flames swirled around him. It took plenty of guts to do what he did in the face of such danger."

Engelhardt said this is the first time Ulster Hose Co. 5 has held such an occasion to honor anyone for heroism such as that displayed by the New Jersey truck driver during the early November incident.

the New York and New England Apple Institute, will tell what this organization is doing to promote apples, and Gerald Werbridge, president of the National Apple Institute, will discuss the possibilities of national apple promotion. Ben Dominick of Cornell, will present the changes in number, age and variety of fruit trees in New York as shown by the recent census and the New York tree survey.

Other topics are: What the foreign agricultural service of the U.S.D.A. and the fruit industry are doing to promote apples and pears; How the Food Commission's report affects fruit growers; and effect of a summer application of Alar (B-9) in reducing drop, improving red color and firmness of apples.

Jerry Hurd, Clintondale; Gary Hopworth, Milton and Ted Wright, Jr., Gardiner, will give their experience with bulk bins and how they pack them.

Controlled atmosphere apple storage operators and their friends are invited to the banquet at which Alfred Zimmerman, Highland, will be the toastmaster, Wednesday night, Jan. 25. David Blampied of Cornell will tell, What is New in C.A., and Rockwood Berry will tell what promotions are planned for C.A. apples. Dates of opening of C.A. rooms will be reported at this meeting.

About 70 exhibitors will fill Kingston armory with the latest in tractors, sprayers, graders, packages and other exhibits.

All members of the New York State Horticultural Society have been mailed a program. Other fruit growers may get a copy at their extension office.

Edward Crist of Walden is president of the New York State Horticultural Society, and helped plan the 1967 program.

Youth Program Slated Feb. 5th At Jewish Center

The Kingston Jewish Community Center has announced that its youth group will participate in a Youth Wants to Know program that will take place on Sunday, Feb. 5, at the social hall of the Ahavath Israel Synagogue, 100 Lucas Avenue at 8 p. m.

The program is intended to stimulate a dialogue and discussion between panels of teenagers and adults as well as participation. A better understanding of different points of view regarding many current social and teenage problems will be the theme of the program.

A playlet entitled Some of My Best Friends, especially written by Robert Creane for this type of program will be presented as a prelude to the discussion to follow. Robert Creane is a professional TV writer and is perhaps best known for his many excellent scripts written for the popular TV series, East Side, West Side.

Participating in the playlet will be teenagers David Rose, Jordan Pauker, Judy Silver, Marjorie Spiegel, Debbie Kalish, and Marcene Bosch. The playlet will be staged and directed by Sidney Silver, executive director of the JCC.

The adult panel will consist of Rabbis H. Z. Rappaport, of the Congregation Agudas Achim, Rabbi H. Z. Schechtman, Congregation Ahavath Israel, Rabbi Jonathan Elchorn, Temple Emanuel, Mrs. David Gerberg and Martin Hammer, adult advisor to the youth group. Sam Berger will act as moderator.

The program is the first in a series of many adult and teenage programs and activities that will be presented regularly by the JCC throughout the coming year. All friends and members of the center and particularly parents of teenagers may attend and participate in what promises to be a stimulating and informative evening. There will be no charge for admission. Refreshments will be served following the program.

The Jewish Community Center is a member agency of the Ulster County Community Chest.

Battle of Bands Slated Saturday For CP Benefit

There will be a Battle of Bands this Saturday, Jan. 21, 11 a. m. at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium. This is a contest to select a local band to represent Ulster County at the Cerebral Palsy Telethon Jan. 28-29.

Any band wishing to compete may do so by calling WKNY any day this week between the hours of 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Judges for the event will be announced later.

The winning band will appear on live television over WTEN Channel 10, Albany, sometime between the hours of 11 p. m. Saturday, Jan. 28 and 6 p. m. Sunday, Jan. 29.

The Battle of Bands is under the direction of Joe Shuler and Jim Tyrell, local radio personalities. Shuler said that so far 21 bands have signed up for the contest.

The public is invited to attend. Admission will be charged. All donations will go for the benefit of United Cerebral Palsy of Ulster County.

The telethon is an annual event to raise funds for the Cerebral Palsy Centers of the Capital District, Berkshire County, Glens Falls, Central Mohawk Valley and Ulster County.

In the past, the telethon has originated at the Albany Armory, but this year the armory was not available due to construction of a bomb shelter. Arrangements were made with the Colonie Shopping Center, a few miles north of Albany, to hold this annual event in the beautiful mall of the shopping plaza.

The telethon is a means of gaining additional funds over those supplied by the Ulster County Community Chest. The Cerebral Palsy Center serves many children outside the county area resulting in a total budget much higher than those monies supplied by the chest.

Dog Owners Responsibility

I read with interest the "dog-napping" articles published in your newspaper and couldn't help but be concerned.

But equally alarming to me is the dog-owner himself, irate when the dog is stolen, yet uncaring enough to let his dog run wild in the first place. It seems that if they really cared as much for their pets as most owners claim, they would take better care of them.

A good example of such "better care" would be walking the dog, or making certain it stays on their property at home, rather than running free. If they are concerned over safety of their pet; their property — then seemingly they should be equally concerned over the property of others, in this case the lawns and sidewalks of others.

Garbage pails upset, walkways messed, backyard furniture damaged . . . all these and more must be endured by both the dog-owner and those who do not own dogs.

And it is especially dangerous for children, for infants at play who always pick up and examine any object they see, or, as in my own case, children in a carriage.

Dogs, several of them, almost always follow the carriage and try to either play with the children, frightening them, or to show affection by licking their faces. This is, at the least, unappreciated by any mother. These dogs must continually be driven away from the carriage.

Then there are the bicycle riders and people driving cars. The cyclists, most of them youngsters, are especially close to the danger of an accidental fall, caused by a friendly but excited dog, who, chasing them, wrecks the bike. The motorists, although less in danger of accident, still face a risk in avoiding a car-chasing dog . . . and the dog faces possible death, as much lost to the owner as though he actually were stolen.

Parents of children who damage the property of others are responsible for them, and rightly so. But what of the dog-owner?

It appears to be the accepted rule that dogs will be dogs and if a dog is a dog on your property . . . tough buddy. That is your problem, not the owners. Maybe new laws, local laws with teeth, would be the answer. I don't know, but it seems the dog-owners would accept this responsibility—if they care as much for their pet as they claim.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Irene Papas, Woodstock

Wait 'Til 'Swell Guy' Leaves Stockade
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Last summer I fell in love with a swell guy. He was on leave (I thought) from the service, but he seemed to be staying around for an awfully long time. Then it turned out he was A.W.O.L. I told him if he didn't go right back we were thru. He went back and faced the ordeal which wasn't as bad as I had expected for being A.W.O.L. for 58 days.

To make a long story short, five days after he squared himself for his first A.W.O.L., he went A.W.O.L. again and now he is in the stockade at Fort Bragg, N. C. I understand he will be there for quite a while.

We planned on getting married as soon as he gets out of service, Abby. My problem is, should I go thru with those plans? He is really a swell guy.

DEAR ABBY: Wait until this "swell guy" gets out the stockade, out of service, and into civilian life again and then take a good, hard look at him. You have plenty of time before making a decision.

DEAR ABBY: On Thanksgiving Day you published your favorite blessing to be said before meals. It was the most meaningful "grace" I had ever read, so I clipped it and said it before our Thanksgiving dinner. All our guests agreed that it was wonderful, and they asked for a copy. A question arose, however, about which there was a difference of opinion. In the line, "May these remembrances STILL us to service," Abby, by "still us" did you mean "instill in us"? Or did you mean "steel," to make hard or resolute? Thank you.

BOSTON FAN
DEAR ABBY: Neither. It was a typographical error. The line should have read, "May these remembrances STEEL us to service," that thy gifts to us may be used for others. Amen."

DEAR ABBY: You will never know what marvelous relief and fond memories were revived when I read about the bride who received a silver candle snuffer and wrote to thank the giver for "the darling little gravy dipper."

When my husband and I were married, he was a struggling medical student who worked after school for a distinguished radiologist. For our wedding gift, this man and his wife sent us an elegant sterling silver angel food cake slicer and server. Being unaccustomed to such luxurious items, neither my husband nor I could figure out what this utensil was supposed to be used for. We finally agreed, and I wrote to thank them for the "lovely meat tenderizing tool."

Many months later, to my horror and humiliation, I saw a similar "meat tenderizing tool" being used to serve cake at a Christmas party. The lovely lady never mentioned my faux pas, and I hopefully told myself that she probably thought I got my gift cards mixed up when I wrote my thank-you notes.

Authentic, Is Experts' View on 'Saucer' Photos

DETROIT (AP) — One of the nation's leading experts on unidentified flying objects said today that photographs of a "flying saucer" taken near here last week are apparently authentic.

Dr. J. Allen Hynek, chairman of the astronomy department of Northwestern University, also said the pictures were strikingly similar to other pictures of UFOs he has investigated.

Hynek, a scientific advisor to the Air Force's Project Blue Book, which coordinates all UFO reports for the military, commented in an interview with the Detroit News.

Hynek had examined negatives copied by the News from the original Polaroid prints taken last week near the Detroit suburb of Mount Clemens.

The pictures were taken around 2:30 p.m. last Monday by two Harrison Township

Hebrew 'U' Gets Bulk of Bequest

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Most of a $1.3 - million estate has been left by a Rochester businessman to an Israeli university to plan a model state in the Middle East "with justice and righteousness as its foundation."

The bequest by Samuel Sturman was revealed Monday in an appraisal filed in Monroe County Surrogate's Court.

Sturman, co founder of a home furnishings company, died Dec. 9, 1964 at the age of 85. His estate totals $1,356,147 before taxes.

In his will, Sturman directed that a major portion of the estate be used to found a department or chair at Hebrew University to plan the model state.

Sturman, 15, and his brother Dan, 17.

The youths said the object hovered over Lake St. Clair behind their home before speeding off to the southeast.

The brothers said they snapped four photos of the UFO and one of an Air Force helicopter, which reportedly was in the area at the same time, although its crew reported seeing nothing.

Experts Discuss China Upheaval, Still Confusing

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "China watching" in Hong Kong during these days of upheaval inside the Communist country must be like trying to report a prison riot from outside the walls.

CBS correspondent Bernard Kalb gathered three newspapermen — an American, an Englishman and a Canadian — around a table for an informal on-camera discussion Monday night. The three China experts, conceding their information in many areas was scanty, proceeded to theorize — and to disagree on most theories.

Robert Elegant, the American, called the confusion a basic conflict between a concept of life in a complex country "and the reality of life for its masses." Richard Hughes, the Englishman, declared it is "the greatest upheaval in the 20th century." Mark Gayn, the Canadian, called it "a revolution decreed from above."

There appeared to be general agreement that it was kicked off by Mao Tse-tung because he was worried about the "decay of his revolution," as Gayn put it, but that he was using 30-year-old tactics.

There was a difference about China's relationship with the Soviet Union. Gayn thought that the break between the two nations could be repaired. The others felt that the Soviet Union is not eager to have a strong nation on its flank.

The discussion, while fluent and philosophical, did little to NBC plans to replace "The Andy Williams Show" May 21 with a series of adventure programs, "The Saint." They are part of a long-playing British series starring Roger Moore, some of which have been seen on television in various parts of this country, but not on a network. They are based on the dashing character created in books by Leslie Charteris.

Williams' NBC contract has run out, and it is known that he would prefer to star in occasional specials instead of in a weekly variety show.

ABC is proceeding with plans to shoot "Silent Night" as a Christmas show for next season. It is to be part of the "Stage 67" series, so presumably that anthology program will be around next year. It is almost definite, however, that it will not have a fixed day and hour of broadcast, but will pre-empt other programs as a weekly special.

IBM Reports Earnings Up During 1966

ARMONK — International Business Machines Corporation today announced its preliminary results for the year 1966. Thomas J. Watson Jr., chairman of the board, reported that IBM worldwide consolidated net earnings after taxes for the year ended Dec. 31, 1966, amounted to $526,130,192 or $9.66 a share on the 54,448,200 shares outstanding Dec. 31, 1966. This compares with net earnings after taxes for the year 1965 of $476,902,490, equal to $8.03 a share earned on the 52,837,371 shares outstanding Dec. 31, 1965, adjusted for the 50 per cent stock split effected May 3, 1966.

Net earnings before taxes amounted to $1,054,130,192, compared with $959,902,490 in the year 1965.

Consolidated gross income for the year 1966 amounted to $4,247,706,091, compared with $3,572,824,719 in the year 1965.

Watson pointed out that as for earlier periods this year, gross income had increased at a greater rate than net earnings. He noted that this resulted from the heavy introductory expenses and higher depreciation expense associated with the phasing in of the company's new System/360 computer line.

Byman Reelected To Head Kingston Hospital Trustees

Edward C. Byman, special products manager for IBM, Kingston, was reelected president of the Kingston Hospital's Board of Trustees at the annual meeting Monday afternoon.

Byman, who resides at 8 Chestnut Street, Rolling Meadows, has been a member of the Board of Trustees for three years and has served as its president since January, 1966.

Also reelected were Arthur B. Ewig and George Tamke, vice presidents, and Wilbur R. Peters, secretary. Amos R. Newcombe was elected treasurer, succeeding Herbert L. Shultz, who remains as a Board member.

Following By-Law Ruling

Shultz had succeeded Newcombe as treasurer two years ago when the latter retired from the board under a by-law provision limiting members from serving more than two consecutive three-year terms. He was returned to the Board last year after a year's absence, and this year resumes his former office as treasurer.

Officers were elected at the annual meeting of the Board, which followed immediately after the annual meeting of the Kingston Hospital Association.

Two new trustees were elected at the Association annual meeting. They are: Robert D. Glanz of Cedar Ridge, New Paltz, president of New Paltz Savings Bank; and Robert Carmichael of Washburn Terrace, Saugerties, an attorney. They will serve three-year terms and succeed Frank A. Benson of Woodstock and Harold Wood of New Paltz, whose terms expired.

Four Reelected

Reelected for their second three-year terms were President Byman, Vice President Ewig, N. Jansen Fowler and Terry Staples. Remaining members of the Board of Trustees are: G. Scott Alexander, Gilbert F. Hoppens, Dale B. Lake, Herbert L. Shultz, Abraham Streifer and George Tamke, with one year remaining on their terms; G. Herbert DeKay, Christus J. Larios, Amos R. Newcombe, Wilbur R. Peters, William E. Rvance and George J. Silkworth, with two years remaining.

Proposed by Rocky Program Would Treat Mentally Ill, Addicts

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller unveiled today a stepped-up program to treat the state's mentally ill, retarded, alcoholic and drug-addicted citizens financed through a more than 15 per cent increase in spending.

The governor said he would seek an increase in the Mental Hygiene Department's operating budget for the next fiscal year of $38.6 million—to $325.9 million.

Rockefeller, in a speech prepared for the annual legislative meeting of the State Association for Mental Health here, also proposed:

—An increase of 600 per cent—to $45,860,000 to accelerate the battle against narcotic addiction, launched last year.

—The hiring of 4,500 additional personnel to help care for the mentally ill and mentally retarded.

—Establishment of four additional state-operated alcoholic treatment clinics. A spokesman for the governor said the sites had not been determined.

—Opening of four new out-patient clinics for the treatment of alcoholics. The sites are yet to be determined.

Add Facilities

—Design of facilities to care for an additional 6,000 patients in the state's hospitals for the mentally ill, retarded or emotionally disturbed.

—An additional $1,458,000 in state aid to municipalities to pay for operating local community mental health facilities.

This year, state aid to local mental hygiene projects of all types was set at $41,484,000.

—An expenditure of $500,000 to initiate a program of hostels for the retarded. The hostels would provide non-institutional facilities for aid in training mentally retarded persons.

In addition, Rockefeller said the Mental Hygiene Facilities Improvement Fund has now committed $275 million.

About 130 persons will be added to the Department's main staff this year, Rockefeller said.

For mental health programs, 2,380 additional persons will be hired, and 2,140 additional persons will be hired for retardation projects—about 885 of them at new units at Rome and in Suffolk County.

Rockefeller told the association that the problem of the emotionally disturbed child in school currently was the subject of conferences between Mental Hygiene and Education Department officials.

The conferences deal with a new law mandating special education programs for emotionally disturbed children.

The governor noted that the population in the state's mental hospitals had dropped to 79,705 in 1966 from 82,399 in 1965.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market resumed its uptrend early today in active trading.

The level was irregularly higher as the market appeared to have digested most of the profit taking that spoiled its drive Monday toward what could have been the tenth straight daily rise.

Investors seemed encouraged by the fact that although all the popular averages registered declines Monday, more stocks rose than fell.

The advance-decline ratio as well as the Dow Jones and New York Stock Exchange averages were in gear on the upside today after a mixed opening on the exchange.

Polaroid rose 3/8. Eastern Air Lines and Xerox about 2. TRW Inc. nearly 2. Zenith, United Air Lines, Sears, Roebuck, Eastman Kodak, Union Carbide and R-vitron about a point each.

The leading auto stocks made small fractional gains. Steels were slightly higher but gains were slight. Oils were irregular. Aerospace issues were ahead, with McDonnell Co. and Douglas Aircraft adding fractions.

IBM was off a fraction. Control Data rose 1/2 to 42 on an opening block of 16,000 shares and rose to 43 on a later block of 10,000 shares.

Pittsburgh Forgings dipped 1/8 to 26 1/2 on blocks of 30,000 and 2,000 shares.

Note Teamsters Pact Calls for 5 to 7 PC Hikes

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa tosses his national trucking contract demands on the bargaining table today, asking 5 to 7 per cent wage hikes for 450,000 workers.

Hoffa, who could be in prison before negotiations are completed, has said Teamsters' demands will range up to 7 per cent for trucking employees now earning from $3.31 to $5 per hour.

Add Fringe Benefits

This does not include fringe benefits, which Hoffa estimates run about $1.10 per hour on the average now. The Teamsters are expected to demand improvements in this area also.

Hoffa was to exchange contract proposals with a group of negotiators for some 12,000 trucking firms, headed by Trucking Employers Inc.

Hoffa aides and some trucking firms have expressed concern that the negotiations could bog down if Hoffa is imprisoned on his lurch-tampering conviction before a contract agreement is reached.

But spokesmen for some major trucking firms said they believed the talks could go on normally even without Hoffa.

Has Until Feb. 4

Hoffa has until Feb. 4 to file a request for a new hearing before the Supreme Court, which upheld his eight-year lurch-tampering sentence in December.

The trucking contract deadline is March 31. Hoffa is not expected to be free much before mid-March unless he wins a further delay of his 1964 appeal on sentence. He is also appealing a five-year mail fraud sentence.

Today's exchange of contract proposals opens renegotiation of the master national trucking contract the Teamsters first hammered out three years ago, climaxing a 30-year campaign.

It covers most of the nation's city, state and cross-country trucking firms. The new talks are aimed at a three-year contract.

The Teamsters' demands Hoffa said in Hollywood, Fla., two weeks ago, will be "within the elastic formula of 5 to 7 per cent" of other recent major labor settlements.

Police Probing School Safe Job

Local police today were probing a safe cracking at the John F. Kennedy School, Gross Street, another burglary, and a theft from a truck.

A car reported stolen in the city Monday night was located by sheriff's men on Abel Street near the city line.

A report at 7:22 a. m. today said the John F. Kennedy School had been entered. Police found the office safe cracked open and said the sum taken from it was less than $10. Entrance was gained from a roof area.

Police headquarters was notified Monday night that two cases of beer had been taken through a window of the Twain's Club, West O'Reilly Street. Nothing else was reported missing.

Another report this morning said a two-way Sonar radio had been taken from the truck of Philip Greer, of 37 Henr. Street, while it was parked near his home.

Local police were notified at 8:30 p. m. Monday that the car of John Dugan, 22, of 18 Madison Avenue, had been stolen from a North Front Street parking lot. Its recovery on Abel Street was noted a short time later.

Bell Talks Tonight

H. Clark Bell, Constitutional Convention Delegate for Dutchess and Ulster Counties, will address the combined Knights of Columbus membership of the Town of Rhinebeck, Red Hook, and Hyde Park at 9 p. m. today in the Good Shepherd Church Hall, Rhinebeck. Bell will speak on the formation, organization, and purpose of the Constitutional Convention. Key issues expected to come before the convention also will be discussed.

LeFever, Others Elected Again by Kingston Savings

Lloyd R. LeFever, president, and other officers of The Kingston Savings Bank were re-elected at the annual meeting of the Board of Trustees Monday night at the banking house, 273 Wall Street.

With a $4,754,000 increase in total assets for the year, 1966 was the biggest growth year in Kingston Savings Bank's 92-year history, and the bank now is Ulster County's largest bank by a substantial margin, according to the annual report. Assets on Dec. 31, 1966 totaled $4,754,000.

Officers reelected with President LeFever were Alexander B. Shufeldt and Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb Sr., vice-presidents. Staff officers are Clifford A. Henze, executive vice president and secretary; Joseph F. Brady, treasurer; Martin E. Scherry, assistant treasurer, and Francis Kugelmann, Jr., auditor.

The asset growth during the 1966 calendar year was 9.5 per cent, approximately twice the average yearly growth experience during the 10-year period which ended Dec. 31, 1965, President LeFever reported.

At the end of the year mortgage loan investments totaled $4,938,000, and increase of $5,292,000 over the amount invested at the beginning of 1966.

Four dividend increases were voted during the year from 4 1/4 per annum to 4 1/2 per annum for the quarter ended March 31; to 4 3/4 per annum for the quarter ended Sept. 30; and to the legal maximum of 5 per annum for the quarter which ended Dec. 31. The bank's 92nd anniversary was celebrated in June with an assortment of new account premiums offered.

In July the savings account bookkeeping went "on-line," offering speedier service and recording of transactions for customers.

During the year Francis Kugelmann Jr., was named auditor, and Helen Wood was appointed an administrative assistant.

President LeFever also reported that plans are underway to beautify the additional bank parking area fronting on Crown St. and to have it conform with local Colonial architecture.

Chicks Perish in Fire

Fire caused extensive damage to a basement of a building on the Sunnyside Poultry Farm Inc., at Greenport in Columbia County Sunday night, and killed 800 two-day old white leghorn pullets, Bernard Finger, farm manager, said the origin of the blaze was not determined. Authorities said dense smoke suffocated the chicks.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

Bonds Supply Income,
No Inflation Hedge

Q) "My wife and I will have $15,000 in retirement income six years from now. We have ample savings but our stock holdings are minimal. We plan to sell our house and will have about $30,000 to invest. We want maximum security and yield. We are considering certificates of deposit or good industrial bonds maturing in 1973 or 1974. What do you advise?"

A) I am glad to see you so well situated for retirement. If your stock holdings are relatively small, I believe you should seriously consider enlarging this area of investment in order to secure a greater long-term hedge against inflation. Stocks gaining steadily in earnings and dividends can afford this protection. CDs or bonds—being fixed as to income—definitely will not. I will now answer you quite literally.

Certificates of deposit would be satisfactory when the interest is guaranteed for a period of years, as it is in some banks. Bonds yield more if held to maturity, and among these securities I recommend McKesson & Robbins 3 1/2's of 1973, selling at 101 1/2.

A) I am pleased to supply it. American Seating is the leading producer of seating equipment, a business which is subject to pretty keen competition. As a result, the company's gains in earnings and dividends over the past decade have been only moderate. The shares should be bought for stability and good income, rather than for growth. The stock sells at about its 1955 high, and unless greater product diversifications can be achieved, I don't see much ahead in the way of capital enhancement. If this is your goal, you would be better off in Consolidated Foods, in my opinion.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column. (Corp. T-M, 1967 Gen. Fea. Corp.)

Q) "I am interested in American Seating on the New York Stock Exchange. I would appreciate any information on this stock."

Home Extension Service News

Mrs. Henry Ohland, chairman of the Home Economics Division, Ulster County Extension Service, has announced the second leader training course of the new year will be held Thursday, Jan. 19. The one day course for unit and organization leaders is about "Care of Today's Fabrics." Reliable and satisfactory care of clothing and household textiles is based on the careful selection of these items as well as care in selecting the right laundry products and procedures. The course will be taught by two of the Home Economics Division home economists, Miss Louise M. Kakarow and Mrs. Phyllis W. Barlow.

Sixteen women representing the following groups: Forest Glen, Lake Katrine, Modena, Milton, Marlboro, New Hurley, New Paltz, Overlook, Plattekill, Plaza Heights, Barclay Heights, Flatbush, Clintondale, Ellenville, and SUMAC, are pre-registered to attend this course.

The morning session of the course is scheduled to begin promptly at 10 a. m. and will conclude at 3 p. m. The course will be held in the meeting room of Cooperative Extension Service headquarters at 74 John Street, Kingston.

MARRIED 25 YEARS—Mr. and Mrs. John F. Berardi, Flatbush Road, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on January 15 with a party given at Guido's Restaurant for some 80 relatives and friends. The celebration was arranged by their four children, Mrs. William Szymanski, Dominic Berardi, Margaret Berardi and John Berardi. They also have four grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. Berardi, she is the former Miss Mary Quarantino, were married Jan. 11, 1942 in St. Colman's Church in East Kingston by the late Rev. George H. McWeeney. They were attended by Mrs. Leo A. Schupp, the former Josephine Quarantino, and by the late Anthony Fiore. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Earrings, Bangles Seen in Rome Shows

ROME (AP)—The fashion spotlight shifted to Rome's couture showings today after three days of fun fashions came to an end in Florence with a tribute to that flood-damaged city.

Italy's designers will parade their spring-summer high fashion creations in Rome through Friday.

For the closing of the boutique showings in Florence Sunday night, designer Marucelli of Milan tracked down the itinerant international brigade of boy and girl students who worked so hard to help clean up the city after the November flood disaster.

She persuaded them to model her "homage to the students" outfits of husky, hooded duffel coats, track suits, dungarees and wellington boots. The youngsters got a big round of applause, as did Mayor Piero Bargellini when he made a surprise visit to the final shows.

Marucelli's dresses were in cotton satin with twinkling mirrors. There were even mirrors knee boots.

Mila Schon displayed perhaps the prettiest summer dress. In pink melon linen, it was a waisted style with little sleeves and a skirt that went into a spin.

There were jingle bells dangle on silver chains over Tita Rossi's gold silk tunic. Colored beads veiled the bare midriff between a pale blue sun too and a pair of briefs.

Tiziani's safari look had some Chaplain Gives Talk At Meeting of City Columbiettes Council

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. O'Reilly, Columbiettes chaplain, spoke on the formation of various religious orders for women in this area at a meeting of Kingston Columbiettes Council No. 275, Knights of Columbus, recently.

At the meeting various committees reports were presented and a letter of resignation was accepted from Trustee Mrs. Freida Klun. Members were also asked to assist at a buffet supper to follow a meeting of the Knights of Columbus held Monday night.

The committee reports included those by Mrs. Joseph Bruno, chairman of a Penny Social and candy sale who related success of the December events and Mrs. Frank Tiano, Catholic Action chairman, who noted all donations of eyeglasses, trading stamps and other items had been forwarded to the proper agencies.

It was announced during the session that the Columbiettes annual Day of Recollection will be held March 5 at Villa St. Dominick, Glasco. Mrs. Emma Miley, chairman, said members will be notified by telephone of reservation requirements.

Sisterhood Board
Announces Plans;
Meeting Wednesday

Board members for Sisterhood Agudas Achim met recently at the home of Mrs. Mildred Flamm to discuss plans for a donor meeting on January 18 and other social events.

Attending the meeting were the Mmes. Goldie Werbalowsky, Harriet Katasky, Bessie Ellenbogen, Helen Pollack, Sadie Blinder, Muriel Levine, Stella Siskind, Etta Schneider and Miss Gertrude Rehr.

Members are requested to submit their donor projects on the 18th and to participate in fund raising fun games to help raise their quota. Donor Day is May 17 and it will be a theatre party and bus trip to New York. Mrs. Marcia Paige is donor chairman.

At the Jan. 18 meeting, Jewish Arbor Day will be observed and appropriate refreshments will be served.

February is Jewish Music Month and it will be celebrated here with a fashion show on March 23.

A Tri-Sisterhood meeting is slated for April 5. Details will be announced.

Right Thing

Which Family Wins Couple
For Holiday Dinner?

Dear Mrs. Post: My boy friend and I had an argument the other night about where to eat the holiday dinner. I invited him to eat Thanksgiving dinner with me and my family, and then invited him to eat Christmas dinner with us, too and visit his family after dinner. He thought that I should eat Christmas dinner at his house. I was always under the impression that it was the girl's choice while dating, though after marriage you split the holidays between the two families. Could you please tell me if I was wrong and what would have been the proper thing to do? Beverly H.

Dear Beverly: Thanksgiving and Christmas have some and gone, but this letter could apply to other holidays and really involves the relationship, not the date.

I never heard of any rule stating that before marriage it is the girl's prerogative to choose where she would eat unless the man especially gives her the choice. Otherwise, boy and girl friends, fiancés, or married couples, discuss the pros and cons and decide between them. If both families want the young people they should go to his house for one meal and hers for the other.

Flat Silver Appropriate
After Engagement

Dear Mrs. Post: Please inform me if it is correct, or incorrect, for the mother of a boy who has given his girl friend a cedar chest for her birthday, to start the girl on a sterling silver serving set? Her mother is not at all in favor of the courtship and doesn't want anything to do with the proposed marriage. Rose

Dear Rose: It is definitely not up to you to start the girl on her sterling silver. From your letter, the couple is not even officially engaged. Give her some lovely linen or lingerie, but wait until you are sure the marriage will take place before giving silver.

Do Children Join in Gift
For Parents

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a question that I have not seen in your column before. When a gift is to be bought by a group of people who each contribute, is it proper to ask the children of the recipient to contribute toward their mother's gift? I'll be waiting anxiously to hear from you in order to settle an argument. Mrs. C. W.

Dear Mrs. C. W.: I hope my answer settles the argument successfully. Family members should be asked if they wish to contribute, but if they plan to buy gifts of their own, as most children prefer to do, they should not be expected to take on the additional expense of a group present.

The firm is based in Saugerties and was represented at the meeting by Thomas Nau, with a brief historical review of numerical control presented by Mark Morgan of the Endicott IBM plant.

Woodblock Prints
Coming Here in '68

The New York State Council on the Arts advised The Freeman today that an exhibition of woodblock prints by Shiko Munakata will be at the Ulster County Community College from January 1-22, 1968.

The Pratt Center for Contemporary Printmaking has prepared this exhibit for the Council and it will be previewed on Wednesday at Pratt Center, 831 Broadway, and will then be circulated for one year to museums, colleges and schools in New York State and will return to New York City in early 1968.

The show is entitled: Shiko Munakata: 20th Century Japanese Master Woodblock Artist.

To Install Officers

Mrs. Raymond LeFever, vice chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee, will be the installing officer at ceremonies being held Thursday at 8 p. m. in the Governor Clinton Hotel by the county's Women's Republican Club.

New officers to be installed are: Mrs. LeRoy Crosswell, president; Mrs. C. John Bechtold, first vice president; Mrs. Ronald Haines, second vice president; Mrs. Harold Christiana, third vice president; Mrs. Van Wyck Darrow, fourth vice president; Miss Alma K. Brayton, recording secretary; Miss Cordelia Feltman, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Thomas Hanrahan, treasurer.

Baltz Heads Library Board; Year's Events Are Reviewed

Chester A. Baltz Jr. was re-elected and Mrs. Ellsworth Johnson and William Stall were elected to the Kingston Library Board at the 68th annual meeting of the Kingston Library Association held this week at the State of New York National Bank Community Room. Each will serve a three-year term on the nine member board of trustees.

Baltz lauded the library staff and board of trustees for their dedication and service under trying circumstances which included the loss of their library director, death of former trustee president Frederick H. Stang and the Consolidated School Board's refusal to support the library financially. He was hopeful that the library's contract with the city for $38,750 would be approved at the full figure and pointed out that a contract with the school board for services rendered to the Consolidated School District students and residents would be sought for this year. Both contracts are urgently needed to operate the library he said.

Robert Neal, library director, further said that the requested city funds will enable the library to be open from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. on week days; add at least 1,170 books to the collection, which lacks 36,000 volumes; bring the number of records and periodicals up to standard; replace shelves in the main library which have collapsed; provide shelving for books in the children's library; increase book box capacity and so prevent damage to books from exposure to the elements; repair loose plaster and ceiling blocks in the fiction room; and replace sixty-five burned out fluorescent lights in the main library.

Funds contracted from the school board will permit the library to offer readers' advisory service; replace superseded reference materials; provide containers for the storage of back issues of periodicals; add to the effectiveness of the general collection; and allow the director to engage in the promotion of library service more effectively.

Neal also said that he is looking forward to a well-coordinated, enthusiastic Association membership drive this year and the funds received will be spent solely for the purchase of books.

Mrs. Harold Davis, the board's treasurer, delivered the financial report which showed that the library's check book balance at the end of the year was $3,553.

Changes to the constitution and by-laws proposed by Ellsworth Johnson, co-chairman of the association's committee of the whole were discussed and adopted.

The meeting adjourned with a tribute to former Board President Stang.

Bridge Hand Favors Canape Bid

By Oswald & James Jacoby Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The bidding system used by Benito Garrozzo and Omar Sharif is the Neapolitan Club plus certain variations developed by Garrozzo.

Like many European systems it uses what is known as canape bidding. One bids the shorter of two suits first and the longer one later on.

We cannot see any real advantage to this style of bidding even though it does produce some swings in its favor.

When today's hand was played in the Men's Pairs at the Pittsburgh Nationals, the normal American bidding started with one diamond by South. North responded one spade. Most pairs proceeded to four spades although a couple got all the way to six.

In all instances East made his normal opening lead of the queen of hearts and the defense gathered in the first two tricks.

Omar Sharif opened with the canape bid of one spade. Benito jumped to three spades. Omar showed his real suit by bidding

Immunization Clinic

A clinic for immunizations against polio, whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus and smallpox will be conducted by the Ulster County Department at the Tumor Clinic Building, 400 Broadway on Friday, Jan. 20 from 10:30-11:15 a. m. Immunizations for whooping cough, diphtheria, and tetanus should be started at three months of age; smallpox vaccination should be given sometime during the first year of life; and polio immunizations should be started from three to six months of age. These clinics serve those who are referred by their physician or those who are otherwise unable to secure these immunizations.

five hearts. Without the king of hearts Omar would have signed off at five spades.

Benito needed no more encouragement to contract for the small slam. There was nothing to play. Omar won the first trick with dummy's ace of clubs and drew trumps. Then he discarded the dummy's hearts on his long diamonds and conceded one club trick. A real top score because four spades bid and six made would have been just as good at match points.

Health for All

Sudden deafness, though not a major health problem, occurs on a scale that has proved a surprise even to some doctors. No reliable statistics exist as to the frequency of its occurrence, but a member of the University of Michigan Medical School faculty recently named more than a dozen diseases with which it is sometimes associated.

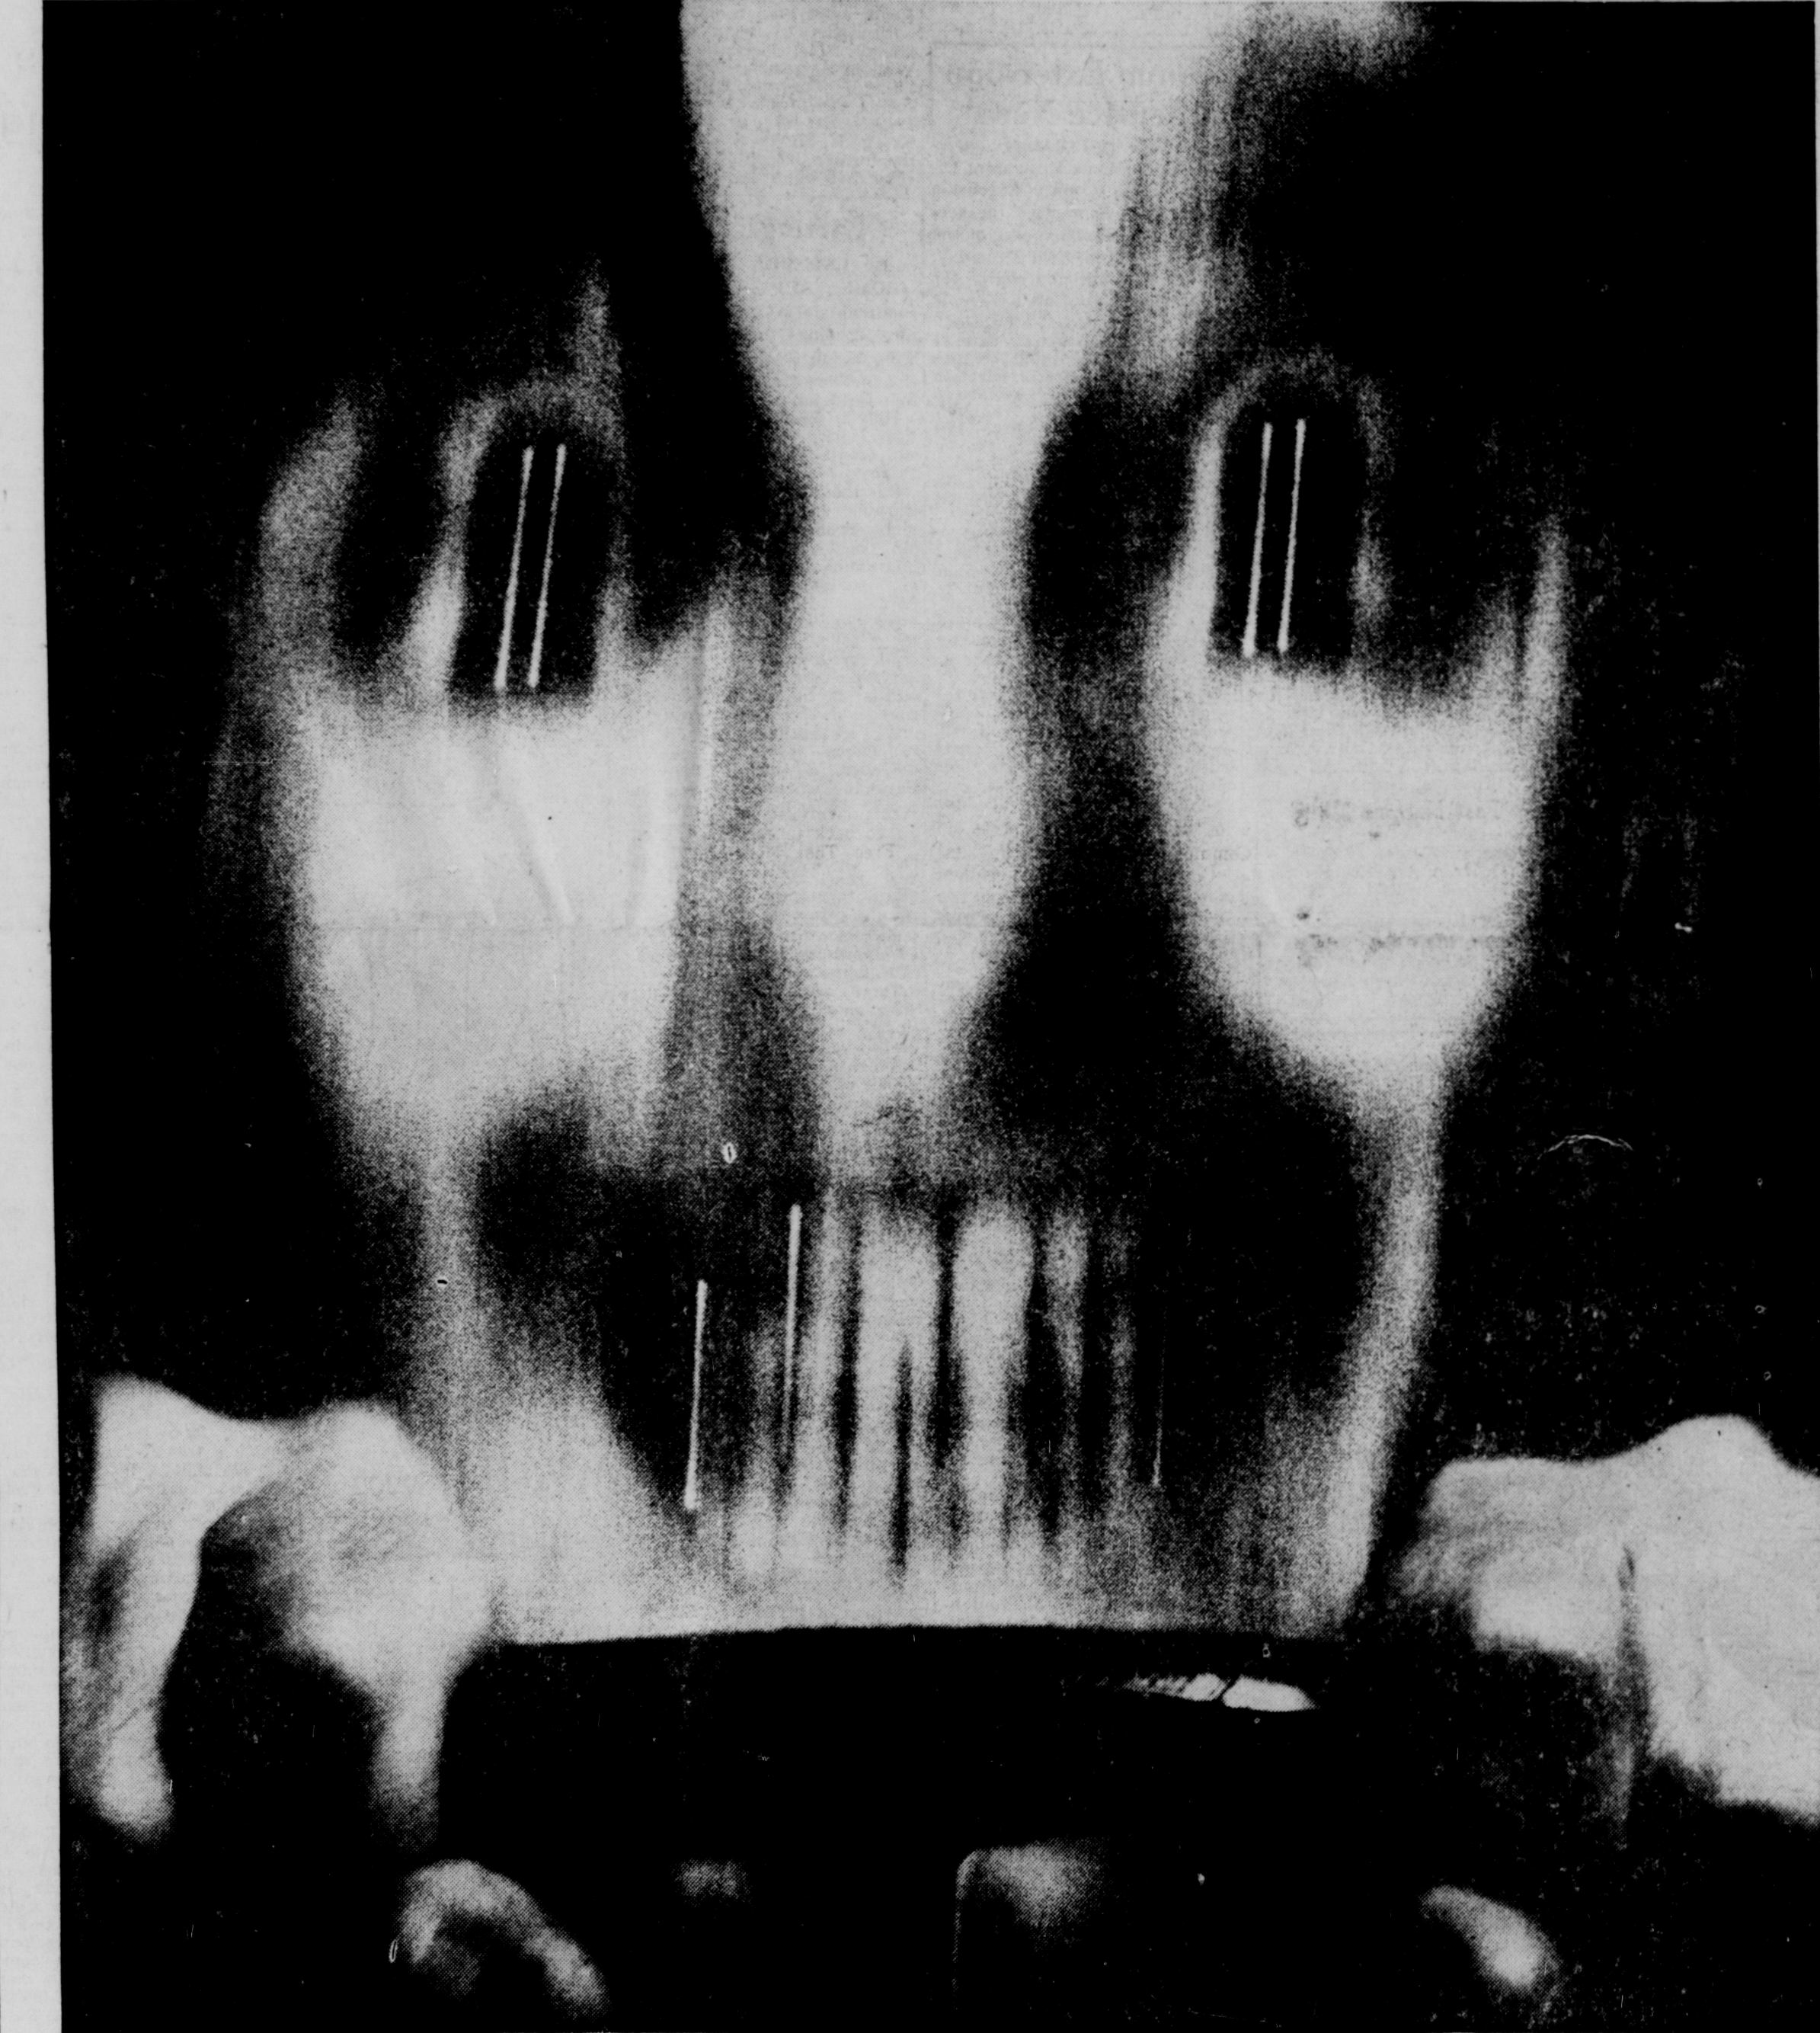

Sudden loss of hearing, said Dr. Burton Jaffe, has been known to occur in people suffering from measles, mumps, some other viral infections, meningitis, syphilis, diseases or mishaps affecting blood vessels, and certain kinds of brain tumors. In addition, it is commonly known that sudden deafness sometimes occurs during pregnancy.

This subject is of more than routine importance, Dr. Jaffe explained, because sudden deafness unless treated immediately is usually incurable. In this it differs from the more common deafness that comes on gradually over a period of months or years. In contrast, sudden loss of hearing can occur "in an instant or over a period of from 24 to 48 hours," he pointed out.

The onset of sudden deafness, in other words, should be the signal for a speedy trip to a doctor. His job would be first of all to determine the location or cause of the trouble. If it is located and treated, Dr. Jaffe said, the patient has a 25 to 50 per cent chance of full or partial recovery.

Your Christmas Seal Association, devoted to the promotion of health in general as well as to the fight against tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases, has this suggestion: If difficulty in hearing comes on suddenly, waste no time in waiting and wondering. Get to a doctor as quickly as you can.

SIDE GLANCES By GILL FOX

"Try not to rattle the dishes while Debbie's boy friend is here. We wouldn't want him to get funny ideas about marriage!"

"When I'm all tensed up, driving relaxes me."

Nobody knows how many drivers are killed every day by tension because tension is usually diagnosed by checking blood pressure. And dead drivers, naturally, don't have any.

Nor can tension ever be detected on a dead driver's breath.

So car crashes caused by tension have to be buried under the heading of "Improper Driving"—which every hour kills and maims more drivers than any other cause. (And not only drivers. In 1965, automobile accidents killed over 5,000 children.)

And the saddest part about it all is that using your car as a 2-ton tranquilizer doesn't even work very well. It actually prolongs your sufferings. Physical exercise works faster than driving. And lasts longer.

Take a long walk. Fix the kid's bike. Clean up the basement. Wash the car. Mow the lawn. Make up with your wife.

All of these and a million other exercises work better and faster than driving. Some are even more fun. All of them are safer.

Of course, if you stay away from driving when you're keyed up, we at Mobil may sell a little less gasoline and oil today. But then, for both of us, there would always be tomorrow.

And tomorrow.

Ho Desires Peace But Won't Give Up

EDITOR NOTE—The following copyright story was written by Bill Baggs, editor of the Miami (Fla.) News, following an interview in Hanoi with Ho Chi Minh, president of North Vietnam. Baggs spent eight days early this month in North Vietnam, during which time he talked with Ho on Jan. 12.

HANOI, North Vietnam (AP)—President Ho Chi Minh said the people of North Vietnam cherished peace, but they would never surrender their independence to purchase peace for their country.

He described the presence of American soldiers in the south, "sent here to kill and be killed," as "a shameful thing."

A visitor got the impression that Ho considered the bombings of his country an atrocity by the United States. He mentioned the bombings several times.

Well-Informed

Ho obviously is well-informed about political and economic events in America.

He was cordial, even friendly, but he was politely firm in expressing the policy of his country. At times he became impatient with the translator and he turned and addressed his American visitor in faultless English. The central policy of his government in the conflict with the Americans appeared to be a "resolution against any intimidation of the 'independence and freedom' of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam."

"The people of Vietnam cherish peace very much. But peace is peace only if you have independence and freedom," he said.

"We will never surrender our independence for the sake of peace. We have battled too long for independence and freedom." The words, "independence and freedom," are words you hear often in Hanoi and in the countryside of North Vietnam. Indeed, these words are a kind of motto among the people.

A few days before the meeting with Ho, a minister in the government here explained to this reporter: "You must remember that we have been at war for 25 years. We were at war with the Japanese after they occupied our country during World War II. Then the French returned and tried to re-establish their rule in our country. We fought and defeated the French, and now the Americans."

Won't Compromise

"So, we have fought too many wars for too many years to compromise our independence now."

MARK TENTH ANNIVERSARY OF AREA SPAN—The Ulster County Chapter of the New York State Society of Professional Engineers will observe the tenth anniversary of the opening of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge at its Wednesday meeting at the Kirkland Hotel. The bridge was first opened for traffic on Feb. 2, 1957. The guest speaker will be Edmond C. White, of the New York City consulting engineer firm of Steinman, Baynton, Gronquist and London who designed the bridge. White was the resident engineer on the structure. The meeting, slated to begin at 6:30 p. m., will be highlighted by films of the bridge during its construction narrated by White. Engineers and others interested in bridge building are cordially invited to the meeting. (Freeman photo)

Thailand Finally Taking Action To Combat Communist Insurgents

EDITOR'S NOTE—Thailand, one of the United States' staunchest allies in Southeast Asia, is fighting a Communist insurgent movement that some observers fear could embroil the country in a Vietnam-type conflict. Fred Hoffman, military affairs writer for The Associated Press, went to Thailand to survey the situation. This is the first of a four-part series.

By FRED HOFFMAN

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—After years of temporizing, Thailand is finally coming to grips with the growing threat of Communist terrorism in its northeast. U.S. officials believe.

A majority of American officials here agree that the guerrilla movement, backed by Red China and North Vietnam, can be contained without a major commitment of U.S. forces and without a minor insurgency developing into a wide open struggle like that in Vietnam.

Must End Viet War

But Thai and U.S. officials alike add that chances for success here hinge in a large measure on a satisfactory conclusion to the war in Vietnam.

The main soft spot of Communist pressure lies in six provinces of the northeast, a huge bulge that embraces 15 of Thailand's 71 provinces.

The six most sensitive provinces are Sakon Nakorn, Nakorn Phanom, Udon, Nongkhai and Loei. The worst areas are in Sakon Nakorn and Nakorn Phanom, wide open to Communist infiltration across the sluggish Mekong River, which forms Thailand's border with Laos for about 500 miles.

This is a wild and remote region peopled by rice farmers, woodcutters, and hunters.

The northeast in general has poor soil is short of schools, health facilities and good roads. It has been left out of the prosperity enjoyed by many of the 32 million Thais.

The peasants and villagers of the northeast have had slight contact with the Thai government, except for an occasional policeman or tax collector. Often the policeman was a predator rather than a protector.

"The Communists have basically been exploiting a vacuum," a U.S. diplomat says.

U.S. Aid Helps

The Bangkok government is trying to redress this, with the help of about $43 million a year in U.S. economic aid.

About 85 per cent of the U.S. economic and technical aid is pointed toward counterinsurgency. So is much of the $60 million in military aid, which was increased this year at the urging of Ambassador Graham Martin.

Attempts by Peking to foment a Communist takeover of Thailand go back to early 1950 when a "Free Thai Movement" was set up in China, using disgruntled Thai exiles.

Things took a serious turn in November 1964, when Radio Hanoi announced formation of a "Thailand Independence Movement."

A clandestine radio calling itself "the Voice of the Thai people" raised the intensity of its propaganda onslaught. The broadcasts originated outside Thailand probably in China.

Patriotic Front

In 1965, Red China told the world the "Thai Patriotic Front" was in business. The front later absorbed the year-old independence movement.

The first clash between Thai security patrols and an armed Communist band in Thailand was recorded in the fall of 1965.

This was followed by more than 100 skirmishes in the ensuing year. Most were quite small, but a couple of bigger firefights last winter jolted the Bangkok government some 350 miles away.

There are no confident estimates of the Communist armed strength in the northeast.

A top U.S. military officer said his guess would be about 1,000—"give or take 25 per cent." This officer has access to the most complete intelligence information available, but he concedes: "Our intelligence net has 'real gaps.'"

1,000 Insurgents

The estimate of about 1,000 insurgents puts Communist rebel strength in Thailand well below what it was in South Vietnam in December 1960, when the National Liberation Front was founded.

According to statistics collected in Saigon, there were about 35,000 Viet Cong members in late 1960. This doubled within a year.

Upstate Sgt. Dead, Was Near Rotation

OGDENSBURG, N.Y. (AP)—A 22-year-old Army sergeant, who was due to be rotated home from Vietnam shortly, is dead of a sniper's bullet.

He was Victor Wood, the first serviceman from this North Country city of 17,000 to be killed in the Southeast Asian war.

A family spokesman said Wood had been serving with the 25th Infantry Division and was stationed at Chu Chi. The Defense Department in Washington reported Monday that the young sergeant was killed last Friday.

Wood enlisted in 1964 and was sent to Vietnam about a year ago. He was a graduate of Ogdensburg Free Academy.

He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wood, five brothers and four sisters.

Furniture Show

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP)—Lower-than-expected prices on new furniture groupings spurred interest among buyers Monday as the winter regional furniture market opened a five-day showing.

"This is the sort of thing the market needs," said John Tobin, president of the Southern Buying Syndicate, after several manufacturers displayed new lines without price increases.

The Johnson administration asked members of the Southern Furniture Manufacturers Association last month not to raise their prices. A spokesman for the association said members probably would not.

Many retailers said they anticipated business as good as that at the Chicago winter market last week.

The combined events for boys and girls were sponsored by the Roundout Valley Lions Club which also furnished the trophies for winners.

UCAL Slates Cheerleading Competition

Onteora Central will be the scene of the annual UCAL Cheerleading competition Wednesday, beginning at 3:30 p.m.

Girls will be judged in five cheer categories. They are team cheer, flight cheer, score cheer, locomotive cheer and individual line-up cheer. Each squad must be prepared to do a cheer from each category. The judges will decide by lot the two cheers each squad will perform. Each will also perform one optional cheer to be selected before the meet.

Cheerleaders will receive certificate with the rating earned by the squad. At the conclusion of the competition, judges will make their decisions. The school receiving the most points will be the winner of the competition.

Murray and Plunket Set Two Marks Each

By CHARLES J. TIANO, Freeman Sports Editor
Can a team set five school and pool records and still lose a swimming meet?

It's not easy, but a frustrated Kingston High school squad managed it in its seasonal opener Monday at the Middletown High School pool.

Taking the opening and closing relay events worth 14 points, the Middies topped Coach Ron Gabriel's Maroons, 53-41, in what must be the most significant defeat in KHS athletic history.

The issue was resolved in the 11th and final event—the 400-yard free style relay. It was 46-41 and Kingston could tie with a 7-point win. But the Middies were too tough, reeling off a sparkling 4 minute, 16.8 second effort to outdistance the Kingston team by a wide margin (4:33).

Craig Murray, a freshman sensation, set two records—with 2:02 in the 160-yard individual medley and a 4:49.4 clocking in the 400-yard for a Kingston record. The 2:02 also stands as a Middletown pool mark.

Plunket Scores Twice

Junior Charlie Plunket also set two KHS records and a Middletown pool standard. His 55.7 second 100-yard free style was good for the two records. In the 200-yard free style, he lowered his own Maroon standard from 2:14 to 2:12.4.

Dave Roberts placed second in the 100-yard breaststroke but his 1:18.6 time shattered his own KHS mark of 1:22.

Bruce Hilton missed another record by only two tenths of a second. He did the 100-yard breaststroke in 1:14.5. His record is 1:14.3.

The winners:

160 Yard Medley Relay—Won by Middletown (McLaughlin, Baky, Blake, Hughes)—Time: 1:37.6.

200 Yard Freestyle—Won by Charles Plunket, KHS, 2:12.4.

60 Yard Freestyle—Won by Gunther, Midd., :33.2.

160 Individual Medley—Won by Craig Murray, KHS, 2:02.

Diving—Won by McLaughlin, Midd., 152.5 points; Gary Schantz, KHS, second, 121 points.

100 Yard Breaststroke—Won by Brisky, Midd., 1:14.7.

100 Yard Freestyle—Won by Charles Plunket, KHS, 55.7; Pete Lewis, KHS, second.

100 Yard Backstroke—Won by Bruce Hilton, KHS, 1:14.5.

400 Yard Freestyle—Won by Craig Murray, KHS, 4:49.4.

100 Yard Breaststroke—Won by Boyer, Midd., 1:18.4; Dave Roberts, KHS, second, 1:18.6.

400 Yard Freestyle Relay—Won by Middletown (J. Ellis, J. Goldstone, B. Hughes, B. Gunther), 4:16.8; Kingston, second, 4:53.

How could it happen?

"We were simply outdepthed," said Coach Gabriel. "And don't forget, we were without Gene Gruner, one of our top swimmers."

So says 27-year-old golfer Kathy Whitworth, who was named The Associated Press top 1966 female athlete Monday by 428 sports writers and radio and television broadcasters who gave her 185 first-place votes and a 729 vote total.

It was the second straight year she won the honor. "I'm thrilled of course," she said Monday, "but nothing can take the place of last year's first award. Last year I never even thought about winning and it came as a big surprise. This year I had some warning."

Miss Whitworth is the youngest of three daughters in the Morris Whitworth family in this small southeast New Mexico town. Her father owns a hardware store. She says her parents won't build up her national fame.

"They're great parents. They keep me on the right level." Her 729 votes in the female athlete poll gave her a big edge against runner-up Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., the Wimbledon singles tennis champion who finished with 521 points including 88 first-place votes.

Points were awarded on a basis of 10 for first place, 8 for a second and 1 on third.

Miss Whitworth repeated in 1966 as the leading money winner on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour. She won nine official tournaments in 1966, her eighth year on the pro tour. Her official earnings totaled $33,511.

Philly Running Away From NBA; So Is Rick Barry
NEW YORK (AP) — While the Philadelphia 76ers continue their drive for an all-time victory mark in the National Basketball Association, San Francisco's Rick Barry keeps piling up points in the individual scoring derby.

Philadelphia won its two starts last week for an eye-popping 41-4 mark and appears to have a good shot at the NBA record of 62 victories set by the Boston Celtics two years ago. The 76ers also could finish with less than the all-time low of 11 defeats absorbed by the old Washington Capitols in 1946-47.

Barry, meanwhile, added to his huge lead in scoring by banging in 186 points in five games during the week. With a total of 1,607 points in 43 games, the Warrior wonder is averaging 37.4 per contest—three points better than Wilt Chamberlain's league-leading mark last season.

Barry hit for 50 and 48 points against Detroit and St. Louis last weekend. Chamberlain, the hub of Philadelphia's explosive attack, leads the league in rebounding and field goal percentage, ranks third in scoring—behind Barry and Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati—and also is third in assists.

Guy Rodgers of Chicago and Robertson are 1-2 in the play-making department and Cincinnati's Adrian Smith tops the foul shooters with only 18 misses in 173 attempts from the line.

HOLLYWOOD, Fla.—(NEA)—In Alvin (Pete) Rozelle, professional sports has the first authentic czar since Kenesaw Mountain Landis autocratically ruled baseball before World War II.

Judge Landis restricted himself to iron-fisted administration of his sport, while Pete is Big Brother who oversees all.

Nothing that pertains to professional football escapes his omnipresent eye.

Big Brother checks out the people who buy pro football franchises and provides rigid specifications. You want to get a job with a franchise? Big Brother's influence can swing it.

Or was it just coincidence that Joe Kuharich, an old Rozelle crony, landed in Philadelphia (with an eventual 15-year contract) when Jerry Wolman bought the club?

Pete Rozelle's sphere of operations has a much larger circumference than any cartel in the history of sports. From the 27th floor at No. 1 Rockefeller Center, where the commissioner's chair happens to reside, the big eye peers over an empire that merchandises everything from action films to slacks to books to crunchy crackling breakfast foods—and, of course, football on Sunday or whenever Big Brother deems it most profitable to play. This year they ventured into prime television time.

If the networks, who have committed more than $25 million a year for the rights to telecast pro football, don't play Pete's ball game he could try to run them out of the park. He has already threatened to set up his own network and once intimated it could go beyond the mere telecasting of sporting events.

Under Rozelle, a football game anyhow is more like a production of a spectacular. The Green Bay-Dallas title game had such touches as red, white and blue hash marks, grass hued to the colors of the competing teams, and in the middle of the field, the NFL emblem, so big the players couldn't avoid it anywhere they stepped.

In fact, the players are so thoroughly enmeshed in the commercialization of their product that most of them in the NFL have assigned to the commissioner the sole right to act as their agent in the use of their names and pictures for endorsements and other merchandising schemes—all the funds to be diverted to their pension and insurance plans.

Contract forms are automatically circulated to the players. A franchisee who can afford to be independent have held off—like John Unitas of Baltimore. But generally, entrepreneurs outside the fold, and mean people who want to capitalize on the tremendous boom of pro football, are blocked off by the manifold control of the NFL on all activities.

The NFL Players Association, meeting at the Hollywood Beach Hotel in annual convention, would like a bigger share of the loot coming into professional football but must face the fact that Rozelle controls the action. More so now than ever.

The source of Rozelle's great power is the fact that the merger of the National and American Football Leagues left him as the boss of the whole shooting match. Now Milt Woodward, installed as the puppet president of the AFL, calls headquarters if he wants to buy a pencil sharpener.

By the natural force of expansion and the infusion of new owners, obligated to Rozelle for the privilege of joining the club, the commissioner has reinforced his strength and swung the balance of power away from the old guard represented by NFL originals like George Halas. When crusty Halas flaunts a minor rule of propriety, there's bemused tolerance. On the things that count, Rozelle rules incisively.

There was this remarkable tableau when the merger of the leagues was announced last spring, and Rozelle and Lamar Hunt, the AFL spokesman, were gathered publicly for the first time. As they submitted to questions, Rozelle held the mike for both of them. Lamar, even if he were so inclined, wasn't going to get the chance to say anything to spoil their act.

And it's not even 1964 yet.

Beacon Seeks 50th Straight DCSL Win
Beacon High School seeks a 50th consecutive DCSL cage victory tonight when it meets Poughkeepsie at the PHS gym. The game tops the area schoolboy slate.

In other DCSL action, Arlington is at Roosevelt, Saugerties at Wappingers and Lourdes at Cardinal Farley. In the DCSO, Monticello plays at Port Jervis and Middletown is at Liberty. Non-league contests will have Marlboro at Fallsburg, Red Hook at Onteora, New Paltz at Minisink Valley and Rondout at Tri-Valley.

Kingston High is idle tonight but will resume action Friday against Liberty at the Kate Walton Field House.

Bing Crosby Golf Classic List Set

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)

—The entry list was complete today for the three-course Bing Crosby National Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament, starting Thursday, and PGA officials began adjusting the new Spyglass Hill layout for its introduction as one of the tourney battlegrounds.

Bob Tuthill of the PGA Tournament Field Staff set up Spyglass as he felt it would probably play for the tournament. After practice rounds today and Wednesday changes will be made if necessary in tee and pin placements on the holes with the illustrious names out of Robert Louis Stevenson — Billy Bones, Capt. Smollett, Long John Silver, Israel Hands, and piratical cohorts.

The championship tees of Spyglass Hill play at a gruelling 6,972 yards. Its medium tees cut the distance to 6,609 and some of these may be used out of consideration for the amateurs paired with the pros.

Pebble Beach and Cypress Point courses will be the same as they always have for this 26th Crosby on California's Monterey Peninsula.

Twenty-eight openings on the pro entry list were filled in medal play Monday on the 6,747-yard Pebble Beach course by a field of 122.

Rocky Thompson of Wichita Falls, Tex., Wright Garrett of Albany, N.Y., and Jim Weichers of Atherton, Calif., shared low qualifying honors at one-under-par 71.

Wins Championship
MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Jeanne Ashworth of Lake Placid, N.Y., holds the 1,500-meter championship for senior women in the third annual North American Speed Skating Championships.

She clocked 2:14 in the run during weekend competition and also finished second to Mary Meyers of St. Paul, Minn., who had the winning time of 47 seconds in the 500 meter event.

TEAMWORK AND SIZE is what the Stewart Air Force Base Falcons of Newburgh will have plenty of for their Friday night game with Spartan Pools at the YMCA court. Three of the

Stewart AFB Tests Spartans In Auditorium Clash Friday

Can the Stewart Air Force Base Falcons of Newburgh beat the high flying Spartan Pools with Jumpin' Joe Uhl of the YMCA basketball league?

Coach Chuck Sweeney of the Falcons thinks so and the issue will be joined Friday night at 7:30 at the municipal auditorium.

The Stewart varsity may not be as powerful as last season's squad which won 18 in a row in a runaway start. But Coach Sweeney isn't moaning. With only three practices behind them, and three places to fill, the Falcons posted 86-80 and 85-72 wins over visiting Plattsburgh AFB on Jan. 6-7.

Stewart's fast, mobile 10-man squad averages a shade under 6-foot-2, giving it the size and height and speed to pose a serious threat to the Pools who have averaged 115-plus on the cramped YMCA court.

Tallest Is 6-6
Tallest player on the team is Al Edmond, 6-6, of Matawan, N. J. the reserve center. The shortest, Billy (The Kid) Askew, 5-11, of Norwalk, Conn. led the Falcons in scoring last year with a 23-plus average.

Bob Williams, 6-4, from Chicago, is the center. He beat out Edmond, Bob Warman, 6-5, and Frank Bryant (6-3). Dak Moore, 6-2, from Kent, Ohio, and veteran Johnny Jackson, 6-2, a New York City lad, are the guards.

Cassius Marks 25th Birthday; Is Still Growing

HOUSTON (AP) — Cassius

Clay turned 25 today, a day he began like most training days, up before dawn to run in a wooded park in west Houston, jogging through the cold in the patch of brightness from the headlights of his white and tomato-red Lincoln Continental.

Trainer Angelo Dundee, driver of the trailing car, said Monday night Clay still is growing at age 25.

"His arms, his shoulders, his back muscles—they're all getting bigger," Dundee said. "He's going to be a super-heavyweight."

By his own testimony, Clay is ready for Feb. 6, the night he meets Ernie Terrell in the Astrodome to settle the world's heavyweight championship.

Clay, the consensus champion, said so Monday when he ran into Terrell, the World Boxing Association's champion, in the exhibit hall both share as a gym.

It was Terrell's first day in town and Clay was late clearing out after a workout without sparring partners. The crowd was gone and only a dozen or so of the two boxers' followers saw what happened.

"I'm ready, I'm ready," Clay said, throwing a shoulder against Terrell.

Terrell clutched at Clay's arms and the two went into a bear hug which lasted two or three minutes while trainers and promoters and bucket-bearers plucked and tugged at them, coaxing them to break the clinch, but not to start swinging.

The circling, sizing up and exchange of boasts went on for about 15 minutes and then it was over.

Undeclared UCLA increased its lead and Princeton gained additional ground in The Associated Press' weekly major-college basketball poll today.

The Bruins were unanimous choices in the voting by a national panel of 40 sports writers and broadcasters. A week ago, they had all except one vote which went to runner-up Louisville.

Louisville held the No. 2 position this week followed by Houston, North Carolina, Princeton, Texas Western, Kansas, Florida, New Mexico and Providence in that order.

UCLA increased its record to 12-0 last week with victories over Washington, California and Stanford.

Louisville was beaten by Southern Illinois, but rebounded to defeat Bradley, T. Cardinals, 14-1, collected 318 points in the balloting which was on a basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, 9 for second etc. The voting was based on games through last Saturday.

New Mexico's setbacks by Wyoming and Denver dropped it from third to 10. Houston rushed up from fourth and grabbed the No. 3 spot after defeating West Texas 103-72.

North Carolina also advanced a notch to fourth after edging North Carolina State 78-78.

Princeton, unranked two weeks ago, moved to seventh last week and to fifth in the latest poll. The Tigers whipped Harvard 90-46 and Dartmouth 116-42 last week for a 13-1 mark.

Texas Western, an 85-73 victor over West Texas, held sixth place. Kansas beat Missouri 70-60 and climbed from eighth to seventh. Florida, which downed Mississippi State 78-63 and Kentucky 89-72, zoomed from 10th to eighth.

Providence slipped one place to 10th despite victories over Oglethorpe and Duquesne. The victory over the Duquesne Dukes was by seven points.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses and total points on a 10-9-etc. basis:

1. UCLA (40) 400
2. Louisville 318
3. Houston 287
4. North Carolina 263

5-0 Streak Shattered

Royals Upset Jack's In Y League, 63-57

Throw out the Spartan Pools powerhouse and there are no sacred cows in the YMCA basketball league.

Royal Grill proved this by knocking Jack's Barber Shop (5-0) out of the unbeaten ranks with a stunning 63-57 upset on the Y boards.

A well balanced attack led by Frank Passante's 23 points accomplished the feat. Fine free throw shooting in the final quarter when Jack's were fouling desperately was significant factor in the Royal win.

It was a satisfying victory for the Royals who had lost 8 out of 9 in the YMCA fall league and were 1-3 in the winter circuit.

Strong Second Half
Royals dominated the second half after trailing 27-26 at the intermission. They forged ahead 45-42 in the third period and gained an 18-15 bulge in the fourth quarter. Bob Lawrence (13) and Tom Fiole (12) also starred for the Grills.

Gary Greiner potted 16 and Wally Lucas hit 12 for Jack's. "With the exception of the powerful Spartan Pools," said Dave Peterson, Y physical director and league director, "any team is capable of beating another on a given night. Last place Food Fair has lost all five of their league games by a point or less."

Food Fair gets a chance to crash the win column for the first time against Spada's Sport Shop (1-3) in tonight's 8:30 contest at the Y, Stone Ridge (4-2) and Tony's Pizzeria (3-2) clash in the 7:15 opener.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

Churches Invited To Unity Session

An invitation has been extended to the Christian churches of Woodstock to participate in a Unity Prayer Service to be held this Sunday, 8 p. m. at the First Baptist Church in Kingston. This observance is one of many that will take place around the world during the period from Jan. 18 to 25 which is the week of prayer for Christian unity.

This event is supported by Anglican, Catholic, Orthodox and Protestant Christians and sponsored by such groups as the National Council of Churches, the Faith and Order department, the Roman Catholic bishops' commission for ecumenical affairs, the Faith and Order Commission of the World Council of Churches and the Roman Catholic Association for Christian Unity in Lyons, France. The week of prayer reflects the elements of gratitude and openness among Christians; gratitude for the increase of Christian unity and openness toward God and each other as they seek to discover the shape of Christian unity which God intends for them.

Agree on Mediator In Welfare Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Striking Welfare Department workers and the city have agreed to call in a mediator to try to break their deadlock on salary negotiations, the major issue in their dispute.

The strike began Monday morning amid widespread reports of vandalism as more than 7,500 members of the Social Service Employees Union struck for the second time in two years.

Services were curtailed but all the welfare centers were open and handling emergency cases, the department said. Some 600,000 welfare recipients were assured they would continue to receive their checks.

The vandalism was discovered at 15 of the 32 centers where supervisory personnel arrived in the morning. Telephone wires had been cut, records destroyed and door locks sealed with glue and solder.

Study Mayor's Proposal

Mayor Raymond W. Gattaghan today said he has been informed by State Senator Henry M. Curran, Third District, New York, that the State Legislature "will probably" introduce bills at this session dealing with tax-free real estate. The mayor had forwarded to the senator his proposal on creating a fire district tax, and in a recent reply the senator wrote: "Your letter of Jan. 9 has been received proposing a fire district fee. The Legislature will probably introduce bills in this field pertaining to tax-free real estate and it will receive my support. This is a problem that is becoming more prevalent in various areas in the state and I can't say whether the Legislature's proposals this year will be the answer to this problem."

Discuss Reading In Lower Levels At B of E Meet

The Reading Program in the Elementary Schools was the educational topic presented at the regular meeting of Ontario Central Schools Board of Education Monday night at Phoenixia Elementary School.

Using the overhead projector to illustrate points made in their presentation, three elementary teachers, Miss Ruth Ann Durvey, Mrs. Ann Maroney, and Mrs. Mildred Gordon discussed various facets of the reading program.

Mrs. Maroney opened the presentation with a discussion of reading in the primary grades. She discussed various materials used to teach reading and outlined the development of word perception and comprehension skills in grades kindergarten through three.

Reading in the intermediate grades was discussed by Mrs. Mildred Gordon. Beginning where Mrs. Maroney left off, Mrs. Gordon showed the further development of reading skills in grades 4, 5, and 6. She also discussed materials used to teach reading and showed how this is varied for the different ability groups.

Miss Ruth Ann Durvey discussed the remedial reading program. She indicated that children who had fallen behind in reading ability and those with potential problems in reading were handled in the remedial program.

She discussed the various tests and records used to diagnose a child's reading problem and stressed the necessity for finding appropriate methods and materials so the child could learn. To read, Miss Durvey also discussed the S.R.A. linguistic reading materials and the E.D.L. Controlled Readers, two relatively new approaches to the development of reading skill with children.

Robert Maroney, Phoenixia School Principal, organized the program and introduced the speakers. Ronald P. Vanni, Director of Elementary Education, served as consultant to the group.

To Present Award At Bosses Night Here Wednesday

The annual Woodstock Jaycee Bosses Night—Distinguished Service Award Banquet will be held Wednesday at the Saxon Firehouse on Jan. 21 at 7:30 p. m. There will be no charge for admission and the program will include colored slides and refreshments. The committee in charge has promised there will be many attractive and useful articles to be "bartered."

Barter Sale Slated

Saxton Fire Auxiliary will hold a "Barter Sale" at the Saxton Firehouse on Jan. 21 at 7:30 p. m. There will be no charge for admission and the program will include colored slides and refreshments. The committee in charge has promised there will be many attractive and useful articles to be "bartered."

Mayor Was Speaker

Mayor Cornelius Cox of Saugerties, was a recent guest of the Public Affairs Department of the Woman's Club of Saugerties. He spoke to the group on the village governing body and its functions. During the discussion that followed many thoughts and ideas were exchanged in regard to the improvement of the village. Mrs. Joseph Sullivan, chairman of the Public Affairs Department, thanked Mayor Cox for being a guest and said it is the hope of the department to continue its efforts for the betterment of the community.

3 Are Children 4 Persons Die In Jersey Fire

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (AP)—At least four persons died Monday as a three alarm fire swept a five-story brick tenement here. Police identified the dead as Mrs. Elsie Oregno, 45, her son Wilfredo, 9, and two children of Mrs. Inez Seda, 29, who was reported unaccounted for along with two other children.

Firemen responding to the blaze at 204-6 9th Street found Mrs. Oregno dead in her third floor apartment. Her son died later in Jersey City Medical Center.

Three of her other children, Evelio, 8, jumped 35 feet into the arms of neighbors and their 14-year-old sister, Lucy, was carried down a ladder by firemen.

Neighbors said two other children and their father, were visiting relatives in Puerto Rico. Some 150 persons were evacuated as the fire raged for two hours before being brought under control. Later, firemen sifting through the ruins of a fifth floor apartment discovered two more bodies.

Police identified them tentatively as the children of Mrs. Inez Seda, 29, who was missing along with two other children. Firemen began checking after Mrs. Seda's husband, Ramon, reported her and his four children, Narieske, 10, Ramon Jr., 9, Roy, 5 and Evelyn 4 missing. They said the bodies of two children were both burned beyond recognition.

Search to Continue The search will continue, they added. The building sustained heavy damage. The fire blazed for two hours before being brought under control. One fireman and five persons were treated for smoke inhalation after being overcome, and some 20 families were evacuated.

Only the walls of the building remained relatively untouched. The roof of the tenement had collapsed sending flaming wreckage into already burning fifth floor apartments.

AT AUTOGRAPH PARTY — Three distinguished writers discussed the publishing world at the signature fete held last Saturday at Catskill Book Shop, Woodstock. The party honored author Roland Van Zandt, whose "The Catskill Mountain House" has just been published by Rutgers University Press. On hand at the event were (l-r) Manville B. Wakefield, author of "Coal Boats to Tidewater," Van Zandt, and Alf Evers, of Shady, whose history of the Catskill Mountains will be published by Doubleday later this year. Quintet Offers Local Composer's Suite for Strings

Another performance of H. A. Schimmerling's Suite for Strings, Piano and Voice, entitled Lyrica Illyrica, will take place in New York City's Town Hall on Saturday, Jan. 28 at 5:15 p. m. The performing artists will be Stanley Hoffman (violin), Herbert Selban (viola), David Gibson (cello), Kenneth Bowen (piano) and Yoshiko Ito (soprano).

"Lyrica Illyrica" got its name from the Roman Illyrium, the territory of today's Yugoslavia, because it is based upon Yugoslav folk songs. It is one of Schimmerling's most performed chamber music compositions. The premiere took place in Woodstock's Maverick Hall in 1954 with William Kroll (violinist) and was heard again in the Maverick in 1965 on the occasion of the composer's 65th birthday. Sabina Rapp sang the premiere and Woodstock's own Ruth Conway the 1965 Maverick recital. Other singers who performed Lyrica Illyrica on both sides of the Atlantic were Joan Wall, formerly with "Turn of Mind" Opera, later at the Met; Sonya Uhlirova and Danitsa Ilytch.

Install Mellert Zena Fire Head

Woodstock Fire Company No. 4, of Zena, installed the following officers at its recent annual meeting:

Richard Mellert, president; Robert Kaleinski, vice-president; Fred Thais Jr., secretary; Albert Holmzer, treasurer; Eugene Phillips, corresponding secretary.

Line officers installed were: Stewart DeWitt, captain; David Mellert, first lieutenant; Robert Elander, second lieutenant.

John Cutler, past president and board director, acted as installation officer.

In other business, outgoing captain Charles Wolven submitted his annual report which noted that Company No. 4 responded to 15 alarms during 1966, including three house fires, two fires caused by overheated stoves, five brush fires, one oxygen call, one false alarm and three standby calls.

President Mellert announced the formation of the following committees:

Planning committee with S. DeWitt, C. Donoghue, D. Mellert, J. Cutler, A. Holmzer and B. Kaleinski, to meet for the first time on Monday, Jan. 23, at 7:30 p. m. at the firehouse.

Membership Drive committee with E. Phillips, R. Elander and R. Mellert.

Finance committee with R. Mellert, E. Phillips, R. Kaleinski, J. Cutler and R. Elander, to meet initially on Sunday, Jan. 22, at 1 p. m. at the firehouse.

Appointed by the president as delegates to the Ulster County Volunteer Fireman's Association were D. Mellert and J. Cutler.

All members are reminded that the next monthly meeting will be held Monday, Feb. 13, at 8 p. m. in the Zena firehouse. All residents of the Zena area interested in becoming members of the local company are invited to attend this meeting or contact any company member for additional information about various company activities.

Kidnap Turtle

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — An American who spent the weekend in jail for stealing a turtle is free in $150 appeal bond today.

Mark William Lavelly, 21, of Columbus Ohio and an Australian, Joseph E. Cooke, 24 were sentenced to a month in jail. Cooke was trying to raise his bail.

The two said they took the turtle as a prank. At the court's order Saturday the turtle was returned to the tank of a tortoise shell manufacturer from where it was taken.

Gore Urges Soviet Accord on Defense

Accord on Defense

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) —

The United States should undertake "in the most direct and impressive manner" to reach an agreement with the Soviet Union on the question of anti-missile systems, Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., said Monday.

Gore, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the Soviet Union is installing an anti-missile defense system around Moscow and 26 other cities.

The Soviet system "is well out of the theoretical stage" and is being constructed, he said.

"We should either bring the Soviets to an agreement on this or Congress should appropriate the money this session to initiate our own system."

Blizzard Pounds Midwestern Area Halting Travel

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A paralyzing blizzard pounded areas in the northern Midwest today, with huge drifts of snow blocking streets and highways, curtailing motor and air travel and closing schools.

The season's coldest weather, with temperatures of nearly 30 below zero in some areas, spread across wide sections.

Cold Warnings
The Weather Bureau issued cold wave warnings for a 15-state area from the Canadian border southward to northern Oklahoma and eastern New Mexico and eastward from the Rockies to Missouri, Illinois and Indiana.

The blizzard, packing wind gusts up to 70 miles an hour, swept from the northern Plains into Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan. Blizzard warnings were posted for northeastern Iowa.

Winds of 40 to 60 m.p.h. whipped the snow through the air, halting snow-clearing operations on highways in Minnesota. Some cities reported visibility Monday dropped at times to zero.

At least three storm-related deaths were reported. Two men died in Minnesota while shoveling snow and a woman in South Dakota was crushed to death when a trailer blew over in a trailer court.

Travel Halted
As the storm roared into Michigan's Upper Peninsula Monday night, winds of 50 m.p.h. whipped the snow, halting travel on many highways. Four inches of snow fell in a six-hour period during the night at Marquette, making a total of four feet on the ground near Lake Superior.

There were at least five school buses stranded in western and southern Minnesota. Six men roving themselves together marched abreast on a road for 2 1/2 miles to lead a bulldozer to a bus with 30 school children, near Chokio, Minn. Five passengers suffered cuts and bruises when a Greyhound bus bound from Minneapolis to Chicago overturned near Tomah, Wis. All commercial buses were called off Minnesota highways Monday afternoon and were not to resume travel until today.

Gets 3 Inches
Snow moved in with the cold weather along the eastern slopes of the Rockies and in the adjacent high plains. Three inches of snow fell at Colorado Springs.

Skies were generally clear in much of the southern half of the nation and along the Atlantic Coast.

Early morning readings ranged from 28 below zero at International Falls, Minn., to 69 at Key West, Fla.

Schlesinger Backs Jackie on Book

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)—Arthur Schlesinger Jr., historian and advisor to the late President John F. Kennedy, supports Mrs. Kennedy's moves to have the contents of a letter she had written deleted from "Death of a President."

The letter, taken out of William Manchester's book, did not "relate to the conduct of public affairs," Schlesinger said. "It had no business being published."

The letter to which he referred was written in 1963, shortly after the death of the Kennedy's third child, Patrick. Mrs. Kennedy was vacationing in Greece.

Schlesinger commented at a news conference after speaking at Union College.

Schlesinger also asserted that the contemporary historian is entitled to write about public officials only as they are "acting in their public capacity and meeting their public responsibilities."

Charged in Beating
BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A charge of second-degree manslaughter has been placed against an 18-year-old boy in the beating of his 2-year-old foster brother.

Stevenson L. Rice of Buffalo was arrested Monday in the death of Edmund Maddox, whose body was found in his crib Friday.

An autopsy revealed that Edmund had suffered a fractured collarbone, multiple bruises and massive internal injuries, the latter inflicted by blows to his abdomen with a blunt instrument, detectives said.

Rice and Edmund were among five foster children living in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Jones. Rice babysat with the younger children Thursday night while the couple was out, police said.

Detectives gave no motive for the death.
The Jones home is at 141 Donaldson Road.

HOME COMING—Madeline Webb, one-time Oklahoma college beauty queen, hugs her 80-year-old mother, Mrs. Vera Webb, after Miss Webb's return home to Stillwater, Okla., on parole from a New York prison where she served nearly 25 years for her alleged part in a sensational New York killing. She has made no plans except to catch up on living with her family. Several job offers have been received, but she has made no decisions. (AP Wirephoto)

On Contract Bidding Urges State Probe Of 'Favored Firms'

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A Brooklyn legislator called today for a state investigation of what he termed possible collusive bidding, kickbacks and bill padding by "favored" firms doing business with the Consolidated Edison Corporation.

State Sen. Albert B. Lewis, D-Brooklyn, said also that the Public Service Commission has failed to require utilities such as Consolidated Edison to award construction contracts to the lowest responsible bidder through public bid.

Requests PSC Return
Lewis, in his first year in the Legislature, said he would introduce a resolution in the Senate asking for the investigation and request the PSC to institute public-bidding practices as authorized by a law passed in 1955.

"The Public Service Commission has failed to protect the public interest by failing to require utilities to advertise for bidding on major construction work," Lewis said Monday.

"That's why the legislation was passed 31 years ago but for some reason the PSC has not used the authority granted it."

He said Con Ed has spent more than $750 million in contracting work during the past three years without public bidding.

"Each and every one of these expenditures should be scrutinized by the State Investigations Commission," Lewis said. "Such practices are fertile areas of corruption, graft, kickbacks and collusive bidding. And because the utility can show that its capital costs have increased it can request and receive rate increases, passing the costs on to the consumers."

Lewis said he visited the PSC offices in Manhattan last Friday to obtain information about Con Ed's bidding practices.

"I was told that I would need permission from the full commission or a court order," Lewis said. "In other words I was blacked out."

Lewis, who is a Certified Public Accountant, said he asked the PSC for information about the contractors who obtain work from Con Ed after receiving complaints that the utility "always does business with a favored few firms."

Notes Benefits
"All city and state agencies and even public authorities rely on their work out to responsible low bidders who are told when contracts are available," Lewis said. "I believe Con Ed and other utilities could do their work at less cost if the PSC would require them to do likewise."

Lewis said that he and Assemblyman Salvatore Griso, D-Brooklyn, are preparing legislation that would require the PSC to direct utilities to award contracts to the lowest responsible bidder after public bidding.

The PSC law was amended in 1935 to authorize the Commission to direct any utility under its jurisdiction to award contracts for construction, improvement, or extension or repair or maintenance of plants, works or systems exceeding $25,000 to the lowest bidder after a public offering.

"The law was never used by the PSC as far as Con Ed was concerned and maybe that is why its rates are spiraling," Lewis said.

Union Rebuttal GOP to Demand Budget Cut to Avert Surcharge

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican rebuttal to President Johnson's State of the Union message will demand a budget cutting drive to avert the 6 per cent surtax on most incomes that Johnson has proposed.

But while opposing the surtax, the GOP will endorse the U.S. position in Vietnam which, in part, is causing the need for additional income. At the same time, it will accuse the administration of foreign policy blunders elsewhere in the world.

Views Due Thursday
The Republican leaders of Congress, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen and Rep. Gerald R. Ford, will outline their view of the State of the Union Thursday night in a 30-minute nationally televised report from the Capitol's old Supreme Court chamber.

Their speeches are still in preparation, and all the decisions have not yet been made. But a Senate source familiar with the GOP's basic points provided an advance account today.

Dirksen will deal with foreign policy, reaffirming GOP support of the President's course in Vietnam. But his report also will raise critical questions about policy elsewhere, the source said.

Dirksen will criticize administration handling of the Alliance for Progress programs in Latin America and also complain of disarray in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

In addition, the source said, Dirksen will have critical words about U.S. policy in Africa and the Middle East.

There will be criticism, too, of American trade policies, alleging that they have caused harm to some U.S. industries, the source said.

Ford, who will be in charge of domestic questions, already has promised a Republican effort to cut domestic spending and scrap the proposed 6 per cent surtax.

For 8 PC Hike
Ford advocates an 8 per cent increase in Social Security payments, far less than the 20 per cent Johnson proposed. He said Republicans want future Social Security increases triggered whenever the cost of living climbs 3 per cent, contending this would provide increased benefits with no boost in Social Security taxes.

Ford will advocate steps to prepare the United States for possible deployment of an anti-ballistic missile system to counter one said to be under construction in the Soviet Union.

Ford will declare that Johnson has not used appropriations voted by past Congresses to begin advance work on an anti-ballistic missile system.

Johnson, in his address, did not recommend deployment of such a missile defense network.

Ford also will propose a program to split a share of federal tax revenues with the states and cities—scaling down some current federal aid programs to provide more money for the unrestricted grants.

Hits Toll Stand
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., denounced Monday a recent recommendation of the St. Lawrence Seaway Corp. that tolls on the seaway be hiked 10 per cent.

"I sometimes wonder if advocates of higher tolls aren't more interested in killing the seaway than they are in seeing it survive and prosper," he said in a statement.

The senator called for a "full-scale congressional review" of the 1954 statute establishing the seaway.

Happy Birthday Ben
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"Happy birthday, dear Ben. Happy birthday to you..." Benjamin Franklin might have suffered an electric shock if he knew his admirers would be singing that song for him on his 261st birthday.

But that's the plan for today, when a cake with 261 candles is lighted in the Franklin Institute, a scientific institution named after the noted statesman and inventor.

13 Workers Sentenced
MADRID, Spain (AP)—The national court of public order Monday sentenced 13 workers to prison, terms ranging from six months to 2 1/2 years for illegal association and propaganda.

They were arrested in April while distributing handbills calling for Spanish workers to cripple production in various factories and join the outlawed Communist party.

NEW 80-FOOT TOWER is nearing completion at the Jansen Avenue office of Kingston Cablevision to provide improved two-way communication with the firm's service trucks. New AM commercial band equipment will replace present citizens' band equipment and will offer greater range and less interference from other users. "With this new equipment, we can be in constant communication with our servicemen anywhere in Kingston, it surrounding area, and Woodstock. This will enable us to provide faster service," according to Richard Allwork, Cablevision manager. Technician shown at top of tower is Andre Puetx of Kingston. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Views on Viet Situation Despite Passage of 12 Months Same Voices Offer Old Line

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—A year passes. The questions and answers about Vietnam begin again. The same voices speak.

They sound sometimes like an old record with the needle stuck — nothing has changed much. That is nothing has changed much in the arguments or the ones making them. There have been changes.

More Troops
The United States has more troops in Vietnam, about 395,000 now to about 180,000 a year ago. More than 6,630 U.S. military men have been killed in Vietnam since 1961, over 5,000 of them in the last year.

In fact, more American military men have been killed in Vietnam than in the Revolutionary War, the War of 1812, the Mexican War, or the Spanish-American War.

And the longer the war the more the damage to President Johnson's popularity and the greater the number of his critics. The war itself looks no nearer an end than it did this time last year.

But the talking goes on, like the bombing of North Vietnam.

Advices Committee
Behind closed doors Monday Secretary of State Dean Rusk spent four hours testifying about the war before the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee, whose chairman, Sen. J. W. Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat, is one of Johnson's most persistent critics.

Next Monday Rusk will face the same committee in public. Last year he did the same. At that time Fulbright said the war was a move toward peace.

If the north stops trying to seize South Vietnam by force, Rusk said, peace can come very quickly.

A year ago he said if the armed attack against South Vietnam is brought to an end, peace can come very quickly.

Thus the position of the Johnson administration is what it was a year ago, just as there is nothing in Fulbright's view in 1967 that seems different from his view in 1966.

The North Vietnamese in recent weeks have let some American newsmen visit them and talk with their top officials. At one time they might sound more inclined to talk peace than another but then again they don't.

So, apparently the position of North Vietnam has not changed. It continues to ignore the American position that if it wants the bombing stopped it will stop its attack on South Vietnam.

In the past year millions of words have been written and spoken in this country for and against the war. At the rate things are going there will be another wordy deluge this year.

Stedge Adjourns Ackert Hearing Until January 30

Hearing on a charge of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated lodged by Kingston State Police against Ernest Ackert, 45, of RD 1, Saugerties, has been adjourned by Justice of the Peace Robert Stedge, Town of Ulster, until Jan. 30.

Ackert was arrested Saturday night after his car was involved in a two-car collision on Route 32 near Quarryville. Harry E. Paradise Jr., 52, of Blue Mountain, well known area pharmacist, operator of the other car, was fatally injured in the mishap.

Ackert, a former Saugerties village clerk, is represented by William D. Brinnier, attorney, who requested the adjournment at arraignment.

Paradise formerly operated the Paramount Pharmacy in Saugerties, and recently had been employed at Bongartz Pharmacy, 358 Broadway, this city.

Kerhonkson Airman In Southeast Asia

Airman Second Class Bruce S. Hinckley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orie C. Hinckley of Kerhonkson, is now on duty at a forward U. S. Air Force combat base in Southeast Asia.

Airman Hinckley, an aircraft mechanic, is a member of the Pacific Air Forces which provides offensive-defensive airpower for the U. S. and its allies in the Pacific, Far East and Southeast Asia.

Before his arrival in Southeast Asia, he was assigned to the 29th Tactical Reconnaissance Squadron at Shaw AFB, S. C.

The airman is a graduate of Rondout Valley Central High School, Accord.

His wife, Joan, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Barringer of Sampsonville.

Harry Golden Improves

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—Author - Editor Harry Golden, once on the critical list, was reported Sunday walking about and watching television at Memorial Hospital, Charlotte, N.C.

A spokesman said that, although Golden is showing continued improvement, no date for his release has been set.

Golden was hospitalized Dec. 27, underwent an operation for removal of his gallbladder, and then suffered respiratory complications.
